PARTY LINES UNBROKEN IN TARIFF VOTE

Democrats Avoid Responsibility Despite Shift of 8 Votes for Bill

ADOPTION ASSURED Battle in Conference Centers Around Debuture and Sliding Scale

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1930 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—CPA—The Republican party is still the party of protection—and the Democrats are unwilling to take responsibility for the new tariff bill.

This is the story told by the final vote in the United States senate after many months of debate and dozens of roll-calls in which the Democrats recorded themselves for protection on certain items so as to satisfy home industries but would not accept the measure as a whole.

Eight Democrats voted for the bill but this was offset by five Republicans who voted against it. The eight Democrats include the two senators from Louisiana interested in seeing their sugar growers protected, the senators from Wyoming and New Mexico and Nevada concerned about wool growing and minerals, Senators Fletcher and Trammell of Florida who have an agricultural constituency and Senator Copeland of New York who represents one of the largest manufacturing states.

All the other Democrats—30 in number—are recorded in opposition while 50 Republicans favored its passage. Thus it will be seen that the Republicans have one more vote than a majority of the entire senate apart from the eight votes the Democrats contributed.

HOOVER TO SIGN
This means that in the forthcoming campaign for congress, the tariff bill of 1930 will be a Republican affair for undoubtedly the bill will be signed by the president. There is a chance that when the measure emerges from conference it may acquire a counter majority. Democratic votes on the theory that more reasonable rates will have been inserted by the adoption of the bill now is absolutely assured. There will be some give-and-take between the senate and house conferees with President Hoover centering his attention on the elimination of the export debenture plan which everybody expects to see eliminated and also on the flexible provisions which will cause a real debate.

Mr. Hoover's hope is that the flexible provisions will afford the executive some power to correct inequities in the bill, though the senate seems to feel that congress should control the machinery of the flexible tariff by having the tariff commission report directly to the national legislative body.

As for rates, many in the senate bill are higher than in the house bill and while some are lower the revision in conference cannot go lower than either house has set it nor higher. Thus within a certain range Mr. Hoover is limited as to the rates and it is generally agreed that while the conference may take two months the measure will be adopted with an abundance of protection in it.

The issue before the country in the autumn will be economic conditions—unemployment and higher costs of living laid to the tariff, with the Republicans claiming the tariff wall is a help to business and that commodity prices are low anyway and the Democrats blaming their opponents for all the ills accumulated in the last two years.

DRY OFFICER HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Lumberman Killed in Gun Duel by Mississippi Deputy Administrator

Clarksdale, Miss.—(AP)—The fatal wounding of J. L. Doggett, 57, prominent lumberman and planter, in a gun fight with E. S. Chapman, deputy prohibition administrator for northern Mississippi, was being investigated today by both federal and state authorities. Charged with murder, Chapman was denied bail and held at an unnamed place. Officers said feeling against him was high.

In the shooting, which occurred late yesterday, at least a dozen shots were fired. Doggett was struck three times, once in the abdomen and once in each leg. A bullet passed through Chapman's coat collar, but he was not wounded.

Police said feeling between Doggett and Chapman reached an acute stage in January during the trial of A. B. Bristle, prohibition agent, on a charge of possession and sale of whiskey. Doggett's name figured in the trial. The agent was acquitted by a directed verdict.

O. D. Jackson, prohibition administrator for the tenth district with headquarters at New Orleans, has directed F. N. Collier of his office to proceed here and conduct an inquiry.

A widow and two children survive Doggett.

Mrs. Miner was accused of the crime along with Albert Hartwig, her alleged lover, who will stand trial in September.

AGAIN RUMOR PACT EFFORT AT ARMS MEET

America Firm in Stand to Refrain from Pledging Military Support

Washington.—(AP)—The emphatic statement that the American government would not consider any consultative pact that would obligate military support was made today by Acting Secretary Cotton of the state department who asserted the position outlined by the American delegation at the London naval parity was that of officials here.

London.—(AP)—The political aspect of the naval conference came strongly to the fore today as conference talk again centered on the possibility of some form of pact being evolved to break the Franco-Italian parity deadlock and produce a five power treaty.

During the day an abrupt and somewhat sensational change came over the face of naval conference affairs with the emergence of security pact talk as a means of working towards solution of the Franco-Italian differences which had brought the conference, at least in its five-power aspect, to a practical standstill.

It was the most important development for some time in the conference activities and was the subject of discussion in all conference circles.

SURPRISES AMERICANS

Resurrection of the security pact talk at this time caused considerable surprise in American headquarters. It having been assumed that this phase of the conference discussions was done with. Just how the matter was revived was still surrounded with considerable mystery but in many quarters the impression prevailed that Great Britain may have offered security assurances to France in some form or other.

It was thought that if such were the fact, it might account for Foreign Minister Briand's hurrying to London from Paris, but this was purely a matter of speculation.

One thing was abundantly emphasized, however, this was that the American attitude regarding a security pact even of consultative variety, had not undergone a change. It was stated in authoritative American quarters that while the Americans have no objection to entering a consultative pact as such, they will under no circumstances enter any pact, even on a consultative basis, which involved the United States in any commitments to material assistance.

In other words, if there should be any security pact in which the United States plays a consultative part, it would be stipulated and possibly written into the pact that the American obligations went nowhere beyond consultation.

City Manager Plan Gives People Control Of City's Affairs

A great many things have been said and are being said about the city manager plan of government by persons opposed to its adoption which not only are untrue but are malicious in their falsehood. These things are said and done to mislead the voter, to make him believe that he is losing certain rights under managerial form that he enjoyed under aldermanic government and to make it appear that the managerial form of government still is experimental and has not been successful.

The city manager form of government is not a new form of municipal control. It has years of practical experience and practical accomplishment back of it and it has been almost uniformly successful in the cities which adopted it. The fact is that in more than 425 cities that have adopted city manager plan, only nine that adopted it by charter, that is by vote of the people, have abandoned it the same way. In the other cities it has worked out so well that taxpayers defeated every effort to displace it and the system is spreading every year to more and more cities. The statement made by its opponents here that the plan has not been successful elsewhere is a falsehood.

The city manager plan was originated in Staunton, Va., at a time when the city was in difficult circumstances and in a few years under a managerial form it was on its feet and prosperous. Other cities, interested in the accomplishments in Staunton, copied the plan. Among the most notable of these was Dayton, Ohio, in 1913, after a great flood which almost ruined the city. Dayton, after 17 years of managerial government is happy with it and that is the experience of most cities that adopted it. The plan has spread into every state in the union and into the Dominion of Canada, gaining impetus every year. It is particularly popular in Michigan, California and Texas, where the people have had an opportunity to watch it work out in other nearby communities and are eager to adopt it for themselves.

The plan proposed for Appleton is based on the best and most satisfactory experiences of other cities. The plan here contemplates a council of seven men, elected at large. They will be nominated exactly as aldermen now are nominated and will be elected in exactly the same manner. The terms of four of the councilmen will expire in one year and the terms of the three will expire the next year. Each councilman will serve a two year term without pay.

There is no real sacrifice involved in serving without pay because there will be very little or no committee service. The council will meet about every two weeks, in the evening, to discuss its business in open session to which the public is invited. Taxpayers and others may attend these meetings to express their views concerning city affairs and they have the same right to be heard and the same right to initiate action by petition that they now have. The fact is that not a single right that they now have will be taken from them and they will enjoy privileges under the city manager plan that they do not now have nor ever can have under the aldermanic system.

The city manager engaged by this council is hired for his ability as the business manager of a city. He is a man trained in municipal operations and knows how to save money for the taxpayers. His training is along business instead of along political lines and he is in a position to give a business administration which cannot be expected of twelve men elected for no other reason than their ability to poll votes.

This manager is engaged without contract and for no definite term. He can be discharged at any time he does not satisfy the council that hired him and the council can be displaced by the voters at any time they are not with the way either the manager or the council are doing their work. This manager has no appeal to the courts and if he is discharged by the council he stays discharged. The work of the council and the manager is sharply divided and prescribed by law. The council has the legislative end of the city business under its direction. It passes the ordinances, lays out the policies of the city, outlines the manager's work and the manager follows the instructions of the council. He hires his own assistants and they are responsible to him and the manager in turn is responsible to the council. If any employee of the manager doesn't do his work well the council holds the manager responsible and if he doesn't make the necessary changes to bring about efficiency the manager can be and will be discharged.

The taxpayers can take their troubles to either the manager or the council and be sure of getting quick action. There will be no need of waiting until a committee can meet to act on some taxpayer's request. He will get action immediately and the kind of action he wants, if this action is for the general good of the city. The manager's office always is open to the public and experience has shown that the manager must meet the people in a courteous and helpful manner if he is to hold his job.

The principal advantages of the managerial form of government over the aldermanic system are these:

It assures quick action on any request from the taxpayers whether it is made individually or by petition.

The city's administrative business is operated by an expert in that business, a man who is trained to save the taxpayers dollars by using the most efficient means of doing the city's work.

The government is closer to the people because they can take their troubles right to the man who will have to do the work and they won't have to depend upon the good will of their aldermen to get things done.

There is more opportunity for saving the taxpayers' money because the city's business is handled by a business expert who is influenced only by the values he can get for the taxpayer's dollar and not by the political effect of his action.

Huckins, Sr., Now Lodged In Iowa Jail

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—(AP)—Elmer S. Huckins of Wautoma, Wis., was in jail here today under $20,000 bonds facing charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Huckins and Sheriff Harry Manchester arrived from Wautoma at 1:30 a. m. and Huckins was taken to the jail. He had not been able to furnish the bond early today. County Attorney Carl Hendrickson said he would have Huckins arraigned later today.

Last efforts of Huckins to prevent return to Iowa, where his son George recently was convicted on similar charges growing out of their financial enterprises, failed yesterday at Wautoma when a habeas corpus writ was quashed. Huckins was immediately turned over to Iowa authorities under an order by Gov. Walter Kohler.

Huckins was reputed head of the business which was said to pay investors from 25 to 50 per cent dividends. The complaint on which he will be tried was brought by Elwood Royster of Cedar Rapids, one of the investors, for recovery of his money. George Huckins was convicted last week on a similar complaint by Royster.

KNAUS, STAR ATHLETE AT E. GREEN BAY, DIES

REVOKE CHARTER OF KANSAS MINE DISTRICT

Indianapolis, Ind.—(AP)—John L. Leach, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, today revoked the charter of district 11 of Kansas, effective immediately and appointed provisional officers to take immediate charge.

The revocation followed authorization given Leach by the international convention of the union last week. Leach appointed Henry Allard of Anna, Kan., as provisional president, and John Hromek, also of Anna, as provisional secretary.

The action automatically deprived the district officers. They were Alex Jones, Hromek, president, who was expelled yesterday for his activities in the recent rump convention at Springfield, Ill.; August Dorothy, vice president, also expelled yesterday; Peter Hromek, secretary-treasurer; Allen Mark and Hromek, board members.

VAN SWERINGENS RULE VAST RAILROAD EMPIRE

New York.—(AP)—The New York Times said today that by recent deals O. P. and M. J. Van Swearingen of Cleveland have rounded out a railroad empire that is the largest privately owned one in the world.

Their $2,000,000,000 eighteen thousand mile network is exceeded only in the western hemisphere by the 30,000 miles of the Canadian National railway and elsewhere only by the 26,000 miles of the German state railways. It embraces those of such systems associated with the names of Gold, Vanderbilt, Hill and Harlan.

Ontario Ex-Premier Hits Government Rum Control

Says Effective Government Regulation of Liquor Proven Impossible

Washington.—(AP)—The assertion that in most of the Canadian provinces "we have not really even a pretense at government control" of liquor was made at the home judiciary committee prohibition hearings today by E. C. Drury, a former prime minister of Ontario province, Canada.

"Government control is not the remedy," the Canadian said. "Effective control is indeed impossible. The Anglo-Saxon temperament will not stand for the inquisition into private affairs which would be necessary to establish any effective control."

"All we have is government sale—with consumption in the home or the hotel bedroom. No longer is drink a mass vice. Women and children are exposed to it. The home is the last place in the world where liquor should be consumed. Crime is increasing, drunkenness is increasing, motor accidents are increasing. Whatever the solution of the drink problem may be, is not government control."

Mr. Drury took the stand after John J. Leach, president of the American Insurance union, with headquarters in Columbus, Ohio, had submitted insurance statistics which he argued showed that the dry state had proved of widespread benefit.

Today's hearing was the first this week. The drys had been expected to conclude presentation of their case but at the outset E. Scott McLaughlin, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, announced they would like at least one more day.

The committee did not join upon the request at the time but Chairman Graham has said the committee would give both wet and dry ample opportunity to present their views.

Before either Leach or Drury took the stand, Representative Hall's Republican, Washington, read a program from J. J. Donovan of Birmingham, Ala., asserting the dollar should not be permitted the sale of liquor at less than charged at previous committee sessions.

MISSIONARIES FREED FROM THREAT OF REDS

Rome.—(AP)—The Society for the Propagation of the Faith, an international organization of the Roman Catholic Church, today received a cablegram from Florence reporting that 11 American missionaries at Kinkow, Kans., for whose safety there had been fear, had been freed by lifting of a Communist ban there. All were well.

Dispatches from Kinkow yesterday said the priest of the American mission at Kinkow was safe. It was feared the Nationalist government would be removed, leaving the city open to attack by the Chinese Communists who surrounded the city. Previous Shanghai dispatches have said there were ten priests and six nuns in the city.

MEXICAN BISHOP ASKS PRIESTS TO REGISTER

Mexico City.—(AP)—Recommendation that all Roman Catholic priests in Mexico register with the government before the end of the month is contained in a circular letter sent out by Pascual del Rio, archbishop of Mexico.

Registration is in accordance with government regulation and was agreed to in the settlement of the church-state controversy. Last June the majority of the priests already have registered.

The archbishop's circular on the priests to cooperate in a national census being taken under government direction.

Snow Plows Buck Drifts On Highways

Ten snow plows, working under direction of Frank Appleton, highway commissioner, were battling snow drifts on county roads Wednesday as a belated blizzard, which struck the state late Tuesday, was dying out.

Mr. Appleton ordered the plows out late Tuesday afternoon when the high wind began to cause big drifts to form on many roads. The storm did not become serious, however, until late Tuesday evening, when a heavy snow started to fall.

All night the plows battled the drifts. Mr. Appleton said the snow was so light that the department did not hear of a single case where traffic was seriously tied up for any great length of time.

The storm hit the county as a surprise and much of the trouble resulted from the fact that the snow fell, set up during the last winter as a protection at strategic points on important highways, had been removed last week. The "bad spots" which the snow fence had protected were filled in with snow and many times motorists had to wait for the plows to pull them out.

Another condition which temporarily handicapped the snow removal was the fact that all plows which had been stationed in the county, with the exception of those at New London, Freedom and Bear Creek, had been called in to the county garage.

The aged Nancy told the court she had been told by several persons that she must kill the "white witch" to forestall the death curse from the which her life and five other Indians would be taken.

The witness examined through an interpreter, gave involved and often be hauled answers to the attempt of District Attorney Guy M. Moore to definitely place Lila in the position of arranging the details of the murder plot.

The senate will meet again on Friday, but only to recess until Tuesday. Neither branch of congress can be in recess for more than three days without the formal consent of the other, necessitating the brief session of Friday.

CHICAGO HAS WORST FALL IN HISTORY

Many in Metropolitan Region Are Isolated as Result of Blizzard

TRAFFIC SHUTS ROADS

Thickest Snow Blanket for March Falls in Many Wisconsin Areas

BULLETIN
Manitowish.—(AP)—Blinded by the blizzard, John Dancy, 55, former soft drink proprietor, walked off a city bus here and was drowned today. His body was recovered an hour later.

Chicago.—(AP)—A beleaguered city grinned and grunted as it plowed to work through giant drifts of snow today.

The storm sent eddies of snow swirling through the deep canyons of skyscrapers yelling the towering peaks, barely discernable from the streets below.

Sixteen inches of snow has fallen in the city at 6:30 a. m., surpassing all previous records for continuous snowfall, and the end was not yet. Successive storms at times have piled snow to greater depths, but this March blizzard, already 36 hours old, has never had an equal in weather bureau records. The heaviest previous fall was 14.9 inches Jan. 6 and 7, 1913.

A good-natured citizenry made the best of crippled transportation and blocked sidewalks. Suburban railways and elevated trains, choked with more than their normal burden of commuters, were running out, few on schedule.

At outlying stations the waiting crowds would shout "where to?" And at a cheerful reply would jump on and hope the train would reach its destination.

Surface lines managed to cut through to the rails on some principal thoroughfares but cross street and suburban lines were practically tied up encrusted with ice and snow. Hundreds of motorists called for aid, and 800 vagrants were sheltered in police stations overnight.

MEET FUEL SHORTAGE

Hundreds of buildings and private dwellings were caught with small gas supplies and efforts to gain deliveries only met replies of dealers that their trucking facilities were suffering from transportation difficulties.

Thousands of workers caught in the central business area last night in their attempts to get home were forced to wait for hours on crowded elevated platforms, and in many instances guards were forced to make patrons descend to the streets to lighten the loads on platforms high over the street.

But transportation struggled vainly through drifts, and on W. Washington-blvd, more than a dozen buses were at one time stalled crosswise in streets, or mired in drifts with heavy loads. Most of the passengers, however, made light of their predicament and became neighborly, a few even conducting a singing party on one bus.

Taxicabs were at a premium and when once loaded usually found a very hard time and took an hour to the car and only for any distance in the proper direction, and at any price. Taxicabs, however, were not above suffering from drifts and broken springs due to holes in packed snow and often discharged their human cargoes.

Business houses lightened their operations in the afternoon, many permitting employees to take a half day off, and also gave orders that only half a force would work today if the storm continued. Business generally felt the effects of the storm as traffic tie ups kept people in doors.

Thousands of school children remained absent from class rooms today. Public school officials at noon decided to close all grade and high schools.

HUNT MISSING MAN

Evanston police were searching with shovels for Sheldon Brumbaugh, 26 year old art student and graduate of the University of Oregon, who is missing and thought to have suffered a heart attack in the storm. He had started home alone after a slight heart attack at a tea room.

Only six minor robberies were reported in 16 hours—but the police would have been helpless to compete with robberies, the squad cars and police officer having been called home to their stalls, helpless to negotiate the streets. Many small jewelry shops closed their doors and waved callers on, fearful of holdups and knowing police could never reach them.

Practical jokers helped sadden the lot of the police with false alarms, once calling an excited squad on a lonely main spot to look for three bodies that weren't there. They had to walk the last half mile when their car stalled.

Deliveries were almost impossible, many small stores running short of

Eleven Workers Entombed In Coal Mine Explosion

LITTLE HOPE FOR LIVES OF MISSING MEN

News of Tragedy Not Known Until Several Hours After Blast in W. Virginia

BULLETIN
Arnettville, W. Va., (AP)—Five of eleven miners entombed in an explosion at the mine of the Crown Hill Coal company here today were known to be dead and rescue crews were pushing into the workings to determine the fate of the others. All were believed to be dead. One of the five bodies was that of J. H. Livingston, night foreman.

Arnettville, W. Va., (AP)—Eleven of thirteen men working near the ninth right heading of the Yukon mine of the Crown Hill Coal company were entombed shortly after 10 o'clock this morning by an explosion. Two others, who did not hear the explosion and were not aware of it until the power was shut off, walked out to safety.

The explosion was believed to have been caused by gas and mine rescue crews from Morgantown and Fairmont were pushing their way to the scene of the explosion, 4,000 feet back in the mine to determine if the entombed men are dead or alive.

The 11 entombed were cutters and scrapers. Paul Paza, a scraper, and Stanley Kendrew, a cutter, were working in back of the ninth heading and were not aware of the disaster that beset their fellow workers until four hours later.

District Inspector A. B. Spencer, of Morgantown, was directing rescue efforts. A mine rescue crew from the United States bureau of mines with headquarters at Pittsburgh, also was enroute to the scene.

Members of the rescue crews believed that there was little chance for lives for the missing miners. The mine was opened in 1922 and is owned by Johnston, Pa., interests. It is a slope mine. Two hundred men are employed in it during the day and 25 at night.

SEND RESCUE CAR
Washington, (AP)—The bureau of mines announced today it had sent a rescue car from Pennsylvania to the Yukon mine at Arnettville, W. Va., where two miners were known to have been killed and eleven trapped in an explosion today.

DEMOCRATS WIN AT KANSAS CITY POLLS

Rout Republicans for all Municipal Offices in Test of Strength

Kansas City, (AP)—In the first test of strength since the 1928 Hoover-Smith fight, Kansas City Democrats, led by Bryce B. Smith, millionaire bakery executive, yesterday completely routed Republican candidates for all municipal offices.

Approximately 146,000 voters, the greatest number to ever visit the polls in an exclusive city election, voted an all-village of Republican support.

Mr. Smith was elected mayor by an unofficial majority of 23,726, defeating George E. Kimball, a lawyer. The Democrats also elected eight councilmen and two municipal judges. Previously the Democrats held a slight working majority in the council.

Nothing was comparatively free of violence, although the customary disturbances were reported from north side wards. Democratic strongholds, Morris Goodman, Republican precinct captain and Louis Denay, Republican challenger, were reported kidnapped.

Bernard Little, a Democratic worker, complained to the county prosecutor that a police sergeant, Clarence Dear, and another officer kidnapped him, threw him from a car and administered a beating. The sergeant was charged with assault with intent to kill.

Ten persons were arrested for alleged illegal voting practices.

The sister explained she thought it was "too cold" for the baby outdoors.

3 Accused Of Illicit Grain Deals

Chicago, (AP)—The Tribune today said three Chicago grain dealers are charged with attempting to manipulate grain prices in federal complaints which will be heard here April 7.

The charges, as quoted by the Tribune, are that the three Chicagoans were responsible for the sale of at least 345,000 bushels of wheat last summer at prices both lower and higher than the market and that they sent out misleading and inaccurate market information, all in an effort to control prices.

The men named in the complaint, said to have been signed by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, are William B. Massey, John S. Reddy and Phillip J. Reddy, all members of the board of trade.

The paper said the actions on which the complaint is based started on July 11, 1929, and continued to Aug. 1, with all transactions in December wheat. The first sale cited by the government is alleged to have been made by Massey on an order for "M. M. Darling, Enid, Okla."

Massey is charged with having sold the 3,000 bushels of wheat to himself at 1 to 13 cents a bushel less than the market price, but is accused of having reported the sale as made to the Reddy firm.

Similar transactions followed, the complaint is quoted as saying, until the three men had, "through ruse, schemes and devices" caused to be sold hundreds of thousands of bushels.

The three are charged with further violation of the federal law "by knowingly and carelessly delivering for transmission through the mails and in interstate commerce by telegraph, telephone, wireless and other means of communication, false and misleading and knowingly inaccurate reports concerning market information and conditions that affect and tend to affect the price of grain in interstate commerce."

The grain futures commission, if it finds such charges to be true, is empowered to direct all contract markets to refuse trading privileges to the respondents.

NAMED STATISTICIAN FOR TAX COMMISSION

Madison, (AP)—Leonard E. Krueger, Madison, has been named senior statistician for the state tax commission, the bureau of personnel has announced.

Krueger was graduated from the University of Wisconsin and Pennsylvania and for ten years was associate professor of economics at Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio.

4 NATIONS IN RACE TO BUILD BETTER SHIPS

United States, Britain, France and Italy Out After German Laurels

New York, (AP)—The greatest shipbuilding race in history, in which four nations will attempt to wrest from Germany the honor of having the fastest steamship afloat, was foreseen today.

Germany's hold on the mythical blue ribbon of the Atlantic was firmly clinched yesterday when the new North German Lloyd liner Europa established a record of 4 days 17 hours and 6 minutes from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose channel lightship, entrance of New York harbor, bettering by 13 minutes the former record established by her sister ship, Bremen.

However, ever since the Bremen took the speed championship from the Cunard liner Mauretania last July plans have been underway in Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States to build ships in the hope of carrying off the speed championship.

The United States lines have already submitted plans for two superliners capable of maintaining an average speed of 23 1/2 knots. Both ships will cost about $30,000,000 each.

In Great Britain, the Cunard line has completed plans for a ship of approximately 60,000 tons. In France construction of a superliner by the French line only awaits enlarging of the St. Nazaire shipyard, while in Italy both the Navigazione Generale Italiana and the Lloyd Sabaudo have plans prepared for ships designed to make a speed of 24 knots.

The Europa's average speed for her record run was 27.91 knots, but for several hours she reached a top speed of 29.01 knots. She is of 48,746 tons. The Bremen is 51,656 tons.

CAN BETTER RECORD

Although Captain Nicolaus Johnson declined to confirm predictions that the ship in calmer weather would be able to average 30 knots, he admitted he thought she would be able to do better than her present record.

One of the senior engineers said she would not attempt to make a better average than 28.5 knots until the appearance of a competitor should make a faster speed necessary. This, he predicted would not be for at least four years.

Captain Johnson, who made his first sea trip as a mess boy of 18 on a 500-ton bark around Cape Horn, expressed satisfaction over the performance of his ship but received all congratulations calmly.

"I had no intention of making a record," he said. "The Europa just walked away with it."

Captain Johnson is 61 years old and will be retired in four years. He has a dark grey beard and moustache and a quiet smile.

The Europa will sail on her return voyage Friday night. She will be open to inspection by the public at her Brooklyn pier tomorrow. An admission fee of one dollar will be charged, the proceeds to go to the seamen's fund. The admission charge was decided upon to avoid the crush that marked the public inspection of the Bremen upon her first arrival.

RENEE ADORÉE TOLD TO TAKE LONG REST

Los Angeles, (AP)—Suffering from a severe throat and bronchial affection, Renee Adoree, film actress, today was confined in a LaCrescenta, Calif., sanitarium.

Dr. Patrick J. Byrne said her condition was not serious, but no visitors will be allowed to see the actress at present. He said she probably will remain in the sanitarium until August for a complete rest.

Friends said the actress had been suffering from a bad cold for several months and it became suddenly worse recently while she was on a trip to Mexico City.

Miss Adoree, who came from France to work in motion pictures, scored her greatest triumph in the war film "The Big Parade." She played the leading roles in several silent pictures, but has not appeared in the audibles.

Linland is considering the construction of a new shipyard.

Sidelights Of Storm

Chicago, (AP)—Completely buried in the snow, Gwendolyn Stevens, 7, was rescued when her father saw a bit of the decoration of her hat protruding from a four-foot drift. The child, returning from school, had stumbled into the heaped snow. She was partly frozen and unconscious when found. Her condition was regarded as critical.

A circus which unloaded during the storm reported the death of a Springbok, native of the African veldt, two monkeys from tropical jungles, and two cockatoos whose preferred habitat is a perch in the palmetto trees.

Mr. Carmel cemetery officials ordered a 24 hour postponement of 12 funerals scheduled for yesterday. Most of the undertakers refused to risk a trip to the cemetery which is two miles west of Maywood. Several who started were forced back by the storm.

The police stations had 2,500 calls concerning persons believed missing in the storm and the telephone company conducted twice as much business as usual, thousands of extra calls being from persons stranded at homes or offices, explaining their plight.

One pedestrian, John Donagan, was painfully injured when the 60-mile-an-hour gale blew his feet from under him at the intersection of Market and Madison-sts. This was adjudged the windiest spot in the windy city during the height of the storm.

The air mail came to Chicago by train. Not one plane landed or took off in the Metropolitan district.

The superintendent of the street and car lines said his company's demand for shovels, picks and scraping bars had exhausted the supplies of all the hardware stores, retail and wholesale, in Chicago.

Why The City Owes The Banks $210,000.00

In 1926 the county tax was increased $100,000 for roads. We refused to levy for this increase but later had to pay, so borrowed the money ..... $100,000.00

We settled the bank tax for $137,000.00 which money had been spent as collected by former administrations, so had to borrow ..... 137,000.00

Total Bank Loan ..... $237,000.00

If it had not been for these two items we would not be carrying this loan for the past two years. We can increase our tax rate and pay for it, or bond and pay for it, but I have been trying to reduce it by saving from our regular levy.

Loerke meat market at Kaukauna early Tuesday morning, were sentenced to the county jail for 90 days each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday afternoon when they pleaded guilty to charges against them. Roberts pleaded guilty of petty larceny and the two Streeters pleaded guilty of aid and abetting the concealment of stolen property.

The three men were arrested about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, within 12 hours of the time the store was entered, after the police traced them through the car used in the burglary. Entrance to the Loerke market was made through a rear window and loot, consisting of nine pounds of butter, several pounds of bacon, ham and wieners and 15 dozen eggs were found concealed in Roberts' home.

Iso-Thermic Tubes for Automatic Fast Freezing

Here is a feature that will appeal to every user of electric refrigeration—a special Kelvinator compartment that gives extra-fast freezing, automatically. Note the spiral coil of Iso-Thermic Tubes, indicated by arrows. This, in effect, a Cold Plate, in which intense cold is concentrated. Ice cubes and desserts are frozen in half the usual time. Yet food compartments are not affected. A feature exclusive to Kelvinator and standard equipment on all 1930 Kelvinator models.

NOW you may turn over the entire problem of healthful food preservation in your home, to an electric servant—the new Super-Automatic Kelvinator. Without care or worry on your part, this marvelous new development of Kelvinator engineering will efficiently supervise every task for which modern electric refrigeration was designed.

Iso-Thermic Tubes, a new Kelvinator discovery, make possible the freezing of ice cubes and delicious desserts in an amazingly brief period. Yet food compartments are always between 40 and 50 degrees, remaining unaffected by the lower temperature in ice chamber. No possible danger of food freezing. And the Kelvinator Cold-Keeper cuts down operating periods fully one-third. Larger size Kelvinators have a separate compartment where perishable foods may be kept indefinitely. Renders a service similar to that of big cold storage plants. Invaluable for large homes, country estates and clubs. Before reaching any decision on a new electric refrigerator, see the new Super-Automatic Kelvinators at our show-rooms. # SOILS SERVICE IS DEMONSTRATED BY SHAWANO FARMERS

Northern Residents Bring Samples to Meeting Places

BY W. J. WINSEY
Shawano—Extension men of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, headed by C. D. Chapman of the soils department, were successful Tuesday in demonstrating the new soils' testing service. The service is being demonstrated to farmers in series of meetings in Shawano-co.

Simultaneously, the soils' testing service was demonstrated in the towns of Aniwa, Birnamwood, Wittenberg, Germania, and Almon, where laboratories were set up in the town halls, and where all the soil samples were tested for lime and phosphate as fast as they were presented by farmers. Reports and recommendations for soil improvement were made.

Heretofore when farmers wanted to have their soils analyzed it was necessary for them to collect the samples, forward them to the College of Agriculture and wait a considerable time for the reports to be made. Now by the use of the new method the tests can be made on or near the farms. Through this change soils testing will become more general as a guide to fertilization processes and to getting increased yields of crops.

At the meetings in Shawano-co the farmers watch the process of analyzing soil samples until all they need to test soils for lime and phosphate themselves is the samples and the equipment. They not only learn the process but they see the advantage of finding out what fertilizer a field needs if any before purchasing, hauling and making applications.

On Wednesday the new soils' test-

When the work on the old section has been completed the capacity of the institution will be doubled.

ing service will be further demonstrated before groups of farmers in the towns of Fairbanks, Morris, Grant, Seneca, Green Valley and Naverino; on Thursday the towns of Bartelma, Red Springs, Herman, Pella, Angelica, and Maple Grove; and on Friday in the towns of Richmond, Waukechon, Hartland, Belle Plaine, Washington and Lessor.

WILL MAKE SURVEY IN PRIZE CONTEST

Home Merchants Want to Know How Many Rural Pupils Will Take Part

A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, cooperating with the Appleton Home Merchants association, is planning to make a survey of the county rural schools to determine how many students are taking part in the home merchants contest running in the Appleton Post-Crescent.

The contest started several weeks ago. It consists of a series of questions and statements appearing in the Post-Crescent every Monday and Wednesday night. Students who take part in the contest will answer the questions or enlarge on the statements. Those submitting the best sets of answers at the conclusion of the contest will receive prizes.

Cash prizes of $205 are being offered by the merchants in two separate divisions of the contest. One division is for the rural school pupils and the other is for the pupils in Appleton and Kaukauna schools. Merchants have announced that those who desire to take part in the contest may receive reprints of all advertisements by writing to the Appleton Home Merchants association at Appleton.

The merchants contest committee now is working on a plan for awarding the prizes at a mass meeting in Appleton at the close of the contest.

Parochial School Students Begin To Offer Ideas In Post-Crescent Contest

At last the parochial school students seem to be wakening. The contest editor Wednesday morning received several letters from students in the Post-Crescent. On To Washington contest. Up to this week few letters were received from parochial pupils and the contest editor was beginning to think that perhaps these pupils were not interested in the trip to Washington.

Keep right on trying, parochial school students, you still have a long way to go to catch up with some of the ambitious youngsters in the public rural schools. They have entered the contest with a fine spirit and they have reaped the benefit of the half-dollars being distributed by the Appleton Post-Crescent.

The contest editor wants to be fair. He wants to distribute the prizes evenly, but he cannot do this if the parochial school boys and girls do not enter the contest.

And another thing:
This morning the contest editor

received a letter from a little girl who said she sent in a letter several days ago. She thought she had a prize winning suggestion, but she failed to win a prize.

This little girl evidently did not see or does not remember some of the things which the editor has repeatedly pointed out in his stories on the contest. These items were:
"Send in your suggestions as soon as possible."
"Be sure they are original."

In this particular case the contest editor had already received the same suggestion from several other pupils. And the first one to submit it was awarded a prize.

This little incident illustrates the need for sending in your ideas the minute you think of them. Otherwise someone else might send it in before you do.

Do not be discouraged. If you do not win a prize every time you submit a letter, you could not expect to do that. Keep right on trying. In several cases the boys and girls have done this and were successful. The contest runs until next June and there is no limit to the number of prizes you may win.

Set down now and write to the contest editor. Tell him how you are earning your money for the trip to Washington next June.

New Uniforms Will Assure Band's Trip To Capital

GET PERMIT TO INCLUDE MUSICIANS

Meeting Says Committee Is Working Feverishly To Secure Funds

Appleton high school's band will be invited to accompany the Outagamie county rural school delegation to Washington, D. C., on the commencement trip next June, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

The invitation will be subject to one condition, however, according to Mr. Meating. That is that the band be equipped with new uniforms.

Mr. Meating received word Wednesday morning from the Central Passenger association, the body that handles the special fare which makes it possible to stage the graduation trip, that permission had been granted to take the band along to Washington. The arrangements for paying the expense of the band already have been made by that body and the only obstacle in the path of the proposal now is the lack of uniforms.

The county superintendent of schools was definite on that point. "Appleton high school has a wonderful musical organization in its band but we want an organization that will look as well as it plays," he said. "The city of Appleton will receive an immense amount of good publicity if the band goes to Washington with us and it would be a shame if this fine group of young men and women were made to march down Pennsylvania-ave to the national capitol in shabby uniforms."

PROVE CLAIMS

"Appleton claims to be a prosperous and thriving city. Proof of this would be lacking if the high school band is sent to Washington with uniforms that did not bear out this claim."

Committees now working on plans to raise the money for the new uniforms increased their activities to a feverish pace Wednesday morning when they heard the news. The Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and the American Legion are assisting in sponsoring the sale of tickets for a concert to be given by the band in the near future. It is hoped this ticket sale will bring in enough money to meet the cost of the uniforms.

William Straussberger is chairman of the Lions committee. Harry Selvester of the Rotary committee; John A. Lonsdorf of the Kiwanis committee; and Charles Sparling of the American Legion committee.

The county superintendent of schools said the ticket drive will be completed this week and the committees are almost certain they will be successful.

"Sending the band on the commencement trip," said Mr. Meating, is part of the city's plans to help put our commencement trip to Washington across as a success. Our plan is being talked of in practically every corner in the United States and the county and city are receiving an almost incalculable amount of good publicity as a result. In addition we are offering our children a wonderful educational opportunity which will be of untold benefit to every one who makes the trip. There should be no hesitancy on the part of Appleton groups to support the ticket sale and on the part of the committees to put their work across."

PLAN PROGRAM

With tentative plans already under way to take the band to Washington, Mr. Meating and his assistants began to make plans for a musical program in Washington. It is possible the entire group of almost 800 students, parents and teachers, will march behind the band down Pennsylvania-ave to the steps of the national capitol where the state song, "The Wisconsin Song," will be sung by the entire group accompanied by the band. The band also will play several selections.

In addition the whole group will sing and the band will play short programs at every railroad station where the train stops on its journey to Washington.

"This is an ambitious program and we need the cooperation of every Appleton citizen to help put it across," Mr. Meating said. "The band must have those new uniforms and I believe they will get them."

CHARGE NEW LONDON MAN USED FISH TRAPS

Albert Talk, New London, pleaded not guilty before Judge Fred V. Henneman today to a charge of Wednesday morning of using a fish trap. Trial of the case was set for Friday. Talk furnished $500 bonds.

The New London man was arrested Tuesday by A. C. Chase and Royal Ott, state game wardens, after the warden claimed to have found six fish traps in the Wolf river between New London and Hortonville. The traps belonged to Talk, the wardens alleged.

The game wardens said they had found a considerable number of fish traps whose ownership had not been established and that they intended to continue their work on the Wolf river. Many complaints about illegal fishing operations have been received, the wardens said, and they are to remain on duty on the Wolf river throughout the spawning season.

Children's Party On April Fool's Day Offers Chance For Variety Of Games

BY JULIA BLANSHARD NEA Service Writer

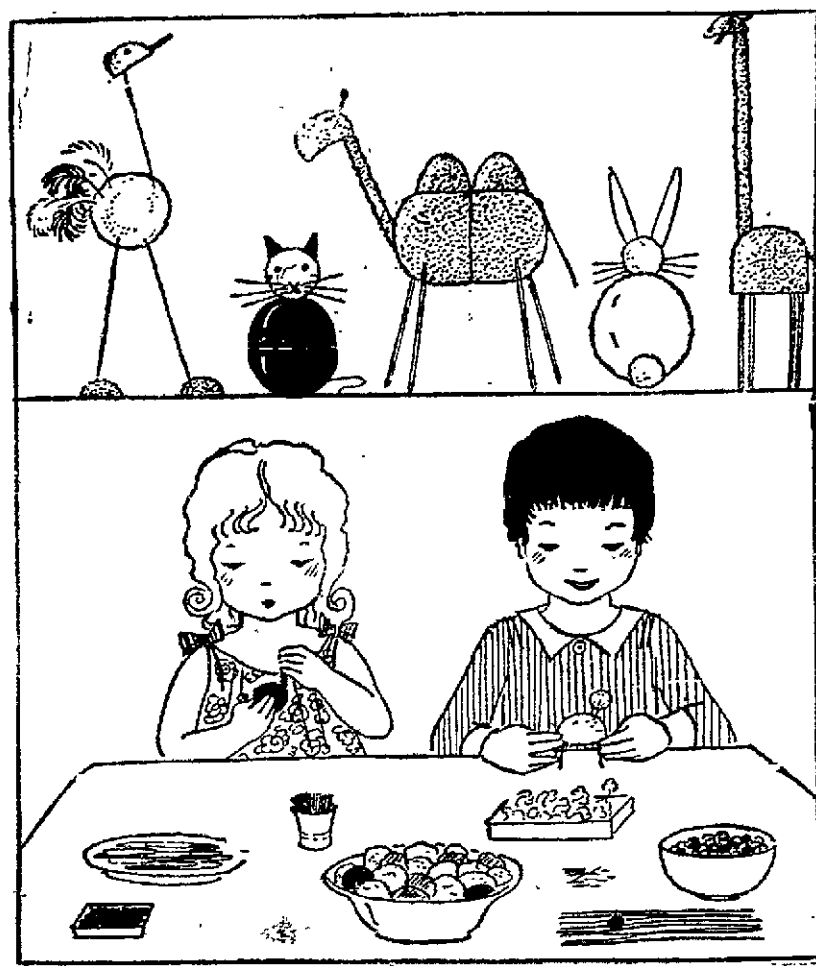

New York—April Fool's day is just a day, but a child's party on this day is a party of animal spirits. The invitations should summon children to this party on the first day of the fourth month. Only the invitations should be fool-proof, however. Life and limb for the adults of the house can be made safe for the future by all the April fooling is concentrated in one grand rip-roaring party of animal spirits let loose.

For the invitations, juvenile note paper should be used, with an animal on it and the instructions to make a noise like this animal no matter if it is an elephant, a giraffe or a zebra. Hidden behind a sheet or a pillow, each child must squeak, according to zoology and make the guests already arrived guess who they are. This is merely the old game of "Grunt, Piggy, Grunt" dressed up in modern clothes, but children have always enjoyed the one who is to April fool the assembly as to its identity for the longest time, deserves and should get an animal prize.

PRACTICAL ZOOLOGY!

Next, there is the animal candy game, with adequate prizes for the best guesses. All colors of gumdrops, marshmallows, chocolate shot, cloves, some tooth picks, some dimes taken from a pillow and some broom sticks taken from the broom and a little hair from a soft brush should be gathered together on a table. Illustrate at the top of the card with a picture of a giraffe. The children with model animals to copy, and a row of animals should stand up on the mantel piece to inspire the modeling.

There should be a camel with a gumdrop bump, a cat with whiskers, a dog, rabbit, and elephant and tiger. The more the variety the better the contest. Bristles from the brush make the cat's whiskers, cloves make the elephant's tail, and longish gumdrops may be flattened to fashion a giraffe's neck, with a toothpick stuck through it to keep it elongated. The animal variety of the toothpick rabbits taken from gumdrops. With a slip of the scissors, their ears may be made by pressing chocolate shot in a hole made by a toothpick. Licorice colored gumdrops should be used for tigers, red ones for roosters which, of course, should have feathers. Little ducks can grow from yellow gummines.

The animal candy game will enliven an April Fool's day party for children. Grotesque little birds and beasts, like the cat, camel, rabbit, and elephant at the top, can be fashioned from such simple materials as gumdrops, marshmallows, chocolate shot, cloves, toothpicks, feathers and broom whisks.

When supper comes, there is no April fooling about the real food the youngsters have. The candy animals should have been gathered in, the meantime, by the guiding spirit of the party and put under a dunce hat at each place. Each white hat should have April's Fool in red on it. Just before the children sit down, they are given turns guessing what animal is under their caps and if they guess right, they are given a candy prize. Those who guess wrong, of course, are easy to guess. Kangaroos are harder. Both, however, afford fun.

There are wide varieties of shapes and colors to choose from. A brave strutting ostrich can use whisk-broom straws for legs and a few feathers on its white gum drop body.

LET THEM IMITATE ANIMALS

As a fill-in entertainment, there is the very popular banyard game, where one person whispers into the ear of the person on his left, a certain animal's name. That guest, in turn, must imitate its strut, walk, run or whatever is characteristic of the animal in motion. Monkeys, of course, are easy to guess. Kangaroos are harder. Both, however, afford fun.

Vote To Keep Canada Rum Out Of U. S.

Ottawa—(AP)—Having passed in the house of commons by a vote of 173 to 11, the government bill to refuse clearance to cargoes of liquor destined for the United States went to the senate today.

Although the opposition subjected Premier W. L. Mackenzie King and his government to a withering fire of criticism during debate on the measure, only 10 opposition votes were cast against it. The eleventh negative vote was that of Major C. G. Power, of Quebec South, a Liberal and member of Mr. King's party.

The attack on the government, led by R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, was that the bill was a protection charge was a change of front in the government's policy regarding the shipment of liquor from Canada to the United States. He quoted W. D. Butler, minister of national revenue, as having said in a speech in the last session that the United States should enforce its own prohibition law and that a law forbidding clearances for liquor cargoes was out of the question.

Mr. Bennett challenged the government to resign, declaring that "any self-respecting government would resign in a case of this nature."

He also attacked Mr. King's announcement that Canada was negotiating a reciprocal treaty to prevent smuggling across the United States border, and demanded to know why the government was now taking up a treaty which the United States had rejected.

Advertising, window decorations, and salesmanship were discussed informally by the 20 members of the association. Jewelers from Chilton, Kaukauna, Neenah, Oshkosh, Seymour and Wausau were present.

The Oldtimer Asks...

Do You Remember When—

We spoke "Darius Green and His Flying Machine" in school and how crazy we would all have considered anyone that had predicted that we would live to take a trip to California in one?

The "thousand and one" odd things that are every day necessities now were undreamed of, and doesn't it make you feel that we have lived in the most wonderful era in human history and while having faith to believe that the next fifty to one hundred years are going to see more wonderful developments than the past, don't you have to ask yourself the question: What in the line of new developments can there be to take the place of electric light, heat, and power, radio, X-ray, wireless, movies, talking, autos, and gasoline motors, telephones, aviation, etc.?

Dr. Eph used to run the Appleton Opera House at College-ave and Appleton and renditions of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "East Lynne," "Camille," etc., could be depended on each year, but about the only operas those rendered by local talent and they were good, as we recollect them, even if we hadn't been invited to take part?

Theaters, dancing, card playing, horse racing, etc., were anathema to many of our good people?

CHAIN STORE MANAGER TO APPEAL DECISION

Carl Maertz, manager of the Cash Wagon Chain store, was found guilty by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday afternoon of selling goods which weighed less than the advertised weight. A fine of $25 and costs was assessed by the judge but Maertz indicated he would appeal the case to circuit court. It is Maertz' contention that the advertisement which led to his arrest was sent out from a central chain store office and he had nothing to do with it.

The specific charge against Maertz was that he sold earbuds in cans containing 15 ounces, when an advertisement said the cans contained a full pound.

This is the second case of a similar nature. Another chain store manager was fined $25 and costs in municipal court recently on the same charge.

C. C. PRESIDENT REVIEWS ACTIVITY DURING LAST YEAR

Names Committee to Nominate Candidates for Director Vacancies

About 50 members of the chamber of commerce attended a meeting Tuesday evening at the Elk club at which work of the chamber during the past year was outlined and a committee named to select a slate of 10 candidates for vacancies on the board of directors. The vacancies occur next month with completion of the chamber year.

Harvey Schlitz, president of the chamber, presided at the meeting and outlined the plan used during the year to work on chamber projects.

"Most activities originated with the directors," he said. A committee was named to investigate each project and report back to the directors. If the latter deemed the project of enough importance another committee was named to start action along lines indicated by the directors.

Eight or more standing committees acted during the last year, Mr. Schlitz said. They held about 50 meetings. Members of the committee were requested to start action along lines indicated by the directors.

John R. Rindl, chairman of the rural affairs committee, reported on activities of his group during the last year and P. N. Belanger discussed the Relations of a Commercial Organization to Community Progress.

The members also discussed need for a community chest for Appleton, need for an apartment building, attendance at forum meetings, a fire proof warehouse and a community building.

Members of the director nominating committee were appointed by President Schlitz on recommendation of chamber members. Mr. Schlitz named Dr. H. K. Pratt, chairman, J. R. Whitman, Adam Remley, and George Wetzel. The slate they pick will contain ten names which in turn will be submitted to members of the chamber, the five having the greatest number of votes to be declared directors for the next year.

MANAGERS SAVE CITIES MONEY, CITIZENS LEARN

Training Makes Them Better Qualified for Office, Claim

The saving effected in Two Rivers through the city manager system, and the drop in tax rates from $35.35 to $28.50 since the plan was inaugurated, were explained to a group of Appleton voters at Roosevelt Junior high school by L. Boumer, head of the Credit association at Two Rivers, Tuesday evening. Other speakers were Burt Larkin, Two Rivers attorney, and William E. Elliott, a member of the council.

"Just last week the city manager saved the city over $4,000 by investigating the metering of electrical current from the Public Service corporation," said Mr. Boumer. "A few months ago he saved the city $40,000 in the construction of a new bridge, undoubtedly would not have happened under the old form of government. There is no wet or dry way, nor is public nor Democratic way to lay a street pavement or build a bridge. There is a correct way, and the city manager, after studying the methods in other cities, tries to apply the correct way to his city."

The Two Rivers speaker told of the enthusiasm of the laboring people of the city, according to local railroad officials, who said practically all trains were on time Wednesday morning.

Bus services between Kaukauna and Appleton and Neenah and Menasha and Appleton was not seriously interfered with and automobile traffic between these two places was maintained without difficulty.

One bus left for Green Bay Wednesday morning. There were no buses from Green Bay to Appleton, although there were several due on Wednesday noon. The Manitowish and Sheboygan bus lines were not operating up to noon and no reports were available on the New London and Wausau buses.

Snow can be expected again tonight, according to weather forecasts. The temperature will remain about the same. The snow fall during the night was estimated at 5 to 6 inches while the lowest temperature recorded was 21 degrees. The mercury had gone up to 29 at noon Wednesday.

Strong northerly winds will continue, the weather man reports, and more snow in the east and northern portions of the state and probably in the northeast portion is due Thursday.

The storm necessitated the recall of several street employees who had been laid off Tuesday. According to R. P. Hackworth, Appleton street commissioner, Two plows were out all morning, but by noon practically all streets here except those on the outskirts of the city were cleared. No plowing was necessary on College-ave, as the traffic packed it in the morning and the city was not working on it in the afternoon. The streets running east and west were the most seriously drifted. Mr. Hackworth stated. The street department crew also cindered all hills Wednesday morning, a precaution against freezing Wednesday night.

Snowstorm Records Fall During March Blizzard

supplies and milk deliveries being delayed.

The weather bureau forecast cloudy but clearing and colder weather tonight.

BOATS IN HARBOR

Manitowish—(AP)—Huddled in the shelter of protecting breakwaters, while great waves boomed outside, carriages on Lake Michigan today gave evidence of the fierceness of a blizzard which swept down from the north and blanketed Wisconsin with snow.

After bucking the northeast combers on Lake Michigan for an hour yesterday, Ann Arbor Carriers No. 6, which had started from Manitowish for Frankfort, gave up and turned back. The City of Saginaw and another Ann Arbor boat arrived three hours late at Ludington.

All Pere Marquette, Grand Trunk and Goodrich boats remained in harbor riding out the storm.

A nine-inch snow in two days was the Milwaukee record. The March storm, W. P. Stewart, meteorologist, said. Between 200 and 300 men were employed to dig the city and county out of the drifts. More snow was forecast tonight and tomorrow.

SNOW PLOWS OUT

Snow plows today fought to clear snow-blocked east and west highways. Temperature, 10 degrees below zero after an all night blizzard. About five inches of snow fell during the night. There was no sign of the storm abating there this morning. Trains ran two to three hours late. North and south highways, county workers said, were "passable."

By virtue of no snow and moderate temperature, La Crosse today laid claim to the "best climate in Wisconsin." While spring bared white teeth throughout the rest of the state, La Crosse had nothing but overcast skies to worry about.

The worst blizzard of the year broke at Menominee, Mich., last night and increased with fury today. A nine-mile-an-hour snow piled snow into five-foot drifts. All available snow removal machinery was utilized in attempts to keep highways open.

Racine's highway commissioner, S. R. Fisher, called the storm the worst of the winter. He had previously ordered down snow fences and men of the local fire department moved, allowing the spring snow to pack onto roads heavily. One highway leading into Racine was so blocked that buses had to take another route. The snow shored a motor on a street car here and smoke rising from it so filled the car that one passenger broke a window glass and injured himself slightly leaving the car.

Two Rivers suffered the worst blizzard of the year. The entire fleet of 11 fish trucks remained in shelter for the second day, not daring to test the waters of the temperatures.

At Manitowish the worst storm of the winter piled snow high on the streets.

With roads in and out of Sheboygan blocked by a nine inch snow, there was no sign of a letup of the blizzard this morning.

WHALEN TELLS ALL ABOUT HIMSELF IN POLICE MAGAZINE

And Picture Goes With Story, Just to Make Write-up Complete

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
New York — When J. Sergeant Crum started coaching Charles F. Murphy on what to wear and how to behave, he probably had no idea of what it might lead to. Here's Grover Aloysius Whalen, New York police commissioner, going completely Howard Chandler Christy in a picture and writeup of himself in his new police magazine, which he founded and edited.

The Tammany of the Patrick Div-er association, the Lawrence Mulli-gan association, the Chowders and Clam bakes at College Point and Witzell's Grove, the Tammany of "Big Tim" Sullivan and "Silver Dol-lar" Smith and "Goldbrick" Naylor still runs New York, and now the old-timers are studying the following portrait of their police commissioner, in Mr. Whalen's own magazine.

"The door opened and he strode in — bronzed, virile, clad in somberly brilliant black with a touch of red . . . I sensed the energy and author-ity which fairly radiated from the man . . . the finely formed head with its sleek black hair, massive chin and piercing Celtic eyes, the muscular figure with its military bearing . . . conveyed limitless capability and resource and the ir-re-sistible power of law and govern-ment . . . I felt as if the whole strength of the New York machine of law and order order was in the room."

"And the black pajamas—they seemed like a uniform symbolic of grim duty and civil power . . . I thought of Black Hussars, great mil-itary commanders of the Grover Whalen is the most inspiring subject I have ever drawn."

IS LINE DRAWING

Even more provocative to surviv-ors of the steam beer and chowder days is the line drawing, for which the above exuberance is the caption, William Van Dresser, police depart-ment artist, doing both picture and text. It is a somewhat juvenile blend of Percy Bysshe Shelley and Court-ney Can Hoopen-Hyphen. There is nothing about it to suggest the black Hussar in symbolic black pajamas. The commissioner's shirt is open at the throat, like a polo player's, al-laying the first glance suggestion that the picture might be a collar ad.

The magazine, and this bit of es-tatic publication of Mr. Whalen, ap-pear just at a time when the town is agitated over insistent reports that the commissioner is about to resign. A resident of Mr. Whalen's neigh-borhood, this writer has learned from district Tammany leaders that there is strong opposition to Commissioner Whalen in the Tammany ranks, par-tly due to his impetuous conduct in spilling the news of the gangster dinner, which led to the unseating of Magistrate Vitale, and partly to the more recent activities of his friends who saw in Mr. Whalen's drive against the communists a chance to make him governor. . . There was a feeling among the old-timers that the ornate police commissioner was get-ting out of hand.

District leaders are cautious in speaking of the possibility of Mr. Whalen's resignation. A minor dis-trict official, one of the old Witzell's grove crowd, was silent but eloquent. He is a building inspector and was found on the job, looking over a new building in process of construction. He said nothing but picked up a brick and poised it thoughtfully in his big, knotty fist.

BOY SCOUTS TO HEAR ABOUT LEATHER WORK

The regular weekly meeting of Troop 11, valley council boy scouts, will be held Thursday evening at McKinley Junior high school in the Fourth ward. The boys are to take lessons in leather work with M. G. Clark, valley council executive, as instructor.

At the present rate of construction Germany's housing problem, it is es-timated, will be ended within seven years.

Some Shrubs Will Do Well On Shady Side Of Houses

In most every home grounds there is need on the shady side of the house, or in other sheltered spots for a few plants which will endure a degree of shade. Fortunately there are quite a few good plants which will get along very well without much direct sunlight, and if success-ful plantings are to be made, these varieties should be used for plant-ing in the shade.

There is such a variation in cli-mate that no list of plants for plant-ing in the shade can possibly include varieties which do well in all lo-calities, but wherever deciduous shrubs are generally planted, the following plants can be grown suc-cessfully.

Practically all of the Dogwoods stand considerable shade. There are medium and tall varieties, and varieties with red stems which are attractive during the winter months and early spring when their warm coloring is so striking against the drab winter landscape. The shrubby Dogwoods have attractive leaves, and the flowers, though inconspic-u-ous, are likewise attractive.

Another good sturdy group of shrubs having many uses for the home planting is the Ligustrum of Privet group. True it is that many Privets are used for hedge pur-poses, but there are also many varieties desirable for planting in the border. Their leaves are very attractive be-cause of their dark blue berries hang all winter. There are both medium and tall growers in the Privets. They stand shearing very well and may be kept small or shear-ed in definite shapes where formal effects are desired.

The Sweet-Scented Mock Orange is an old favorite and most fortu-nately it does quite well in the shade. There are many improved varieties of the Mock Orange or Philadelphus group which are un-c-e-lled for fragrance and flower. The flowers are white and one of the best new varieties, the Virginal

INVITE MOORE, BAKER TO JUDGE MUSIC CONTEST

Dr. Earl L. Baker, professor of public school music, and Ernest C. Moore, professor of instrumental methods and wind instruments, at the Conservatory, have been asked to be judges at a State music con-est at Iron Mountain, Mich., May 9 and 10. This contest is in con-nection with National Music week, and annual observance of which tends to develop the national con-sciousness of musical interest among students and educators in musical in-struction. The request that these Lawrence professors be adjudicators at this contest was sent by Ada Bickling, state director of music edu-cation, Michigan.

The bilingual plan is intended to reach audiences in the United States as well as in Latin-America. Studios will be maintained in six cities of the Rio Grande Valley.

MOST PRODUCERS ALL THROUGH NOW New York's Leaders Are Definitely Out of It Until Next Season

BY WARD MOREHOUSE
New York—CPA—William Har-ris Jr., Charles Dillingham and Da-vid Belasco are three of the town's first-rank producers who have desks cluttered with manuscripts but who are definitely out of it until next sea-son.

Mr. Harris has a fondness for sev-eral plays but not one of them is "ready." Mr. Dillingham has had an indifferent season and said today that he is done until fall, that he'll make his annual trip to London in June. Mr. Belasco? Well, they say he's working 12 hours a day on a new one and is planning to give it to Broadway in August.

It was this same Mr. Belasco who surprised Broadway last August by rushing in his comedy, "It's a Wise Child." He gave it his customary out-of-town test and, on the evening of Aug. 8, he raised his curtain. The Broadway folk shook their heads. "The old fellow's in too big a hurry," they said. "Aug. 8 is too hot." Pos-sibly so, but "It's a Wise Child" is still current in 44th-st and will be there many weeks.

Mrs. Fiske and "The Rivals" will quit Broadway on April 5 and go on a tour that will include many cities. All members of the Erlanger com-pany, including James T. Powers, who appears as Bob Acres, will make the trip. The tour will follow Joseph Jefferson's route when he played "The Rivals" in 1896. It opens at Boston on April 7.

The Theatre Guild's production of Philip Barry's "Hotel Universe" will open in New York on April 14. Copyright 1930 by the New York Sun this soothing, safe ointment that fre-quently relieves in one application—and seldom fails when applied once every hour for 5 hours. All druggists.

COLD IN CHEST CALLS FOR MUSTEROLE

Plantings made of these varieties are almost sure to be a success in the shady place where the sun-lov-ing plants would make only a feeble growth. Consequently, it is best to select the right plant for the right spot in planting your home grounds.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like cascara. Med-ical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold: whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleas-antly — and cost only a dime? adv.

THE ONLY ISSUE IN THIS CAMPAIGN

The current debt of the city of Appleton was $242,000 on December 31, 1929. This does not include the city's bonded indebtedness.

The tax rate is $35 per thousand, one of the highest in the state.

It cost the sum of $806,307.29 to run the city of Appleton last year, without including schools.

It cost last year approximately $200,000 for operation of the street department, including lighting, street cleaning, oiling, repairs and maintenance. This does not include any permanent improvements.

The expense of operating this department was at least twice as much as it should cost as shown by reports of expenditures for the same service in some 15 other cities of similar size selected at random by the Post-Crescent. This is only one department where there is evidence of extravagance and waste. There are others.

Which is more important to taxpayers and citizens, the questions raised by these facts, or the rubbish being circulated in the circulars and advertising flooding the city in support of politicians and the aldermanic system?

What is the good of deluding oneself with fake theories about the democracy of aldermanic government and the autocracy of business conduct of city affairs if the bills keep piling up and there is waste and inefficiency? Is the rewarding of politics and politicians worth it? How long does a situation such as the facts above reflect have to exist before the people are justified in seeking ways and means for improving municipal government and reducing its top-heavy cost?

There is nothing else to the whole city manager campaign.

RUSSIA BACKS WATER

Russian communism knows now what happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable body. It has collided with two immovable bodies—religion and individualism—and after pausing for breath, it executes a strategic retreat.

Communism continues atheistic, but it stops trying to force atheism on believers. Officially, at least, it says it will use no weapons except those of free persuasion. It will not mock piety, it will not close churches except by request of communities and congregations. Which, of course, is merely belated wisdom. Religion is far older and more deep-seated than communism or any other economic doctrine. And even in Russia, where religion is primitive, superstitious and subject to many forms of abuse and corruption, it is too potent a force in human life to be crushed by persecution.

The other obstacles may prove no less redoubtable. Only fanatics would have expected the land-hungry moujiks, in a country so dominantly agricultural, to give up their land and share its fruits without tremendous opposition. It is always easier to socialize industrial population than rural population. In the city one is lost in the crowd and moves with it. In the country one goes it alone. The farm is the real refuge of economic individualism and independence, even in Russia.

THE NEW TARIFF
While he may have been a little strong in some of his statements, we agree with and approve Senator La Follette's general characterization of the tariff bill evolved by the senate. We may be certain it will not be improved when it comes out of conference, for the house was even more inconsiderate of public interests in framing the measure which passed that body.

Mr. La Follette says a vote for the bill "is a vote to turn the senate into a market place where legislation is written by bargaining and where the lobby with the largest number of votes to trade dictates the terms of legislation." He says that "many of its most iniquitous duties were secured by these swapping methods." He says again that the bill is "free from any pretense of protecting infant industries. No one will claim that it is based on the Republican principle of equalizing costs of production at home and abroad." Finally he sums it up in this fashion:

Even the pretense that it equalizes the benefits of industry and agriculture under the tariff system is untenable because for every increase in an agricultural rate there have been four increases in industrial rates. The Grundy tariff bill eclipses the 'tariff of abominations' of 1823 in its impositions upon the public and by comparison dwarfs the injustice and iniquity of the Payne-Aldrich act of 1909 which wrecked the Republican party in 1912.

All of these are reasonably accurate statements of fact. The bill grants increased protection to industries which have no claim or right to it. It imposes additional tax burdens on the consumer's living and other expenses. If the benefits to agriculture, which are altogether problematical, should prove to be of any consequence, they are more than offset by additional tribute levied on him for the enrichment of certain industries. The manner in which the sugar and other schedules were fixed is among the glaring proofs of Mr. La Follette's charge that the bill is a product of vote-swapping.

It is probably an exaggeration to say that the new rates will increase the consumers' burdens by a billion dollars, as the Wisconsin senator asserts, but there is no doubt that it adds heavily to their overhead and that it subsidizes industries which either have no claim to additional protection or are already over-subsidized. It is no misnomer to call this measure the Grundy tariff bill for it was produced by Grundy methods. Although conceived and executed in the name of Republican policy, it violates that policy shamefully. The last several revisions of the tariff by Republican congresses have been unconscionable surrenders to special interests, great corporations and campaign contributors. Commencing with the notorious Payne-Aldrich bill it has been so down to the present act. It is a record of reaction and betrayal of public trust that must sooner or later visit painful consequences upon the Republican party.

RINGLING'S MUSEUM

The last of America's great circus men, in addition to running the greatest show on earth, has been gathering in recent years one of the world's finest art collections. The choicest pieces from this collection are to be assembled in a museum at Sarasota, Fla., which will be opened to the public next winter. It is said that the noted galleries in Old world cities—Paris, Florence, London, and so on—may have more works of art, but they have none which are finer.

An example of Mr. Ringling's success in acquiring rare masterpieces is the presence of four of the eight huge canvases of biblical subjects painted by Rubens. Two of the eight have utterly disappeared. Two of them are in the Louvre. The other four are in Sarasota.

Near the museum, John Ringling plans to build an art school where pupils will have ready access to the works of the masters and where, too, they will work in much the same sort of brilliant sunshine and natural coloring as in Italy. Eventually the buildings and grounds are to be given to the United States. It seems a big jump from the tanbark of the circus rings to this amazingly fine collection of art masterpieces. Is it not a rather typically American jump?

The Post-Mortem

REPORTS begin to drift in from the various baseball camps. In a few weeks, the experts will have picked next season's champions and all that remains will be the formalities of playing off the games. Significant, indeed, is the report that Lefty Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics is much improved over his last year's form. The numerous gentlemen of this district who bet on the Cubs to win the series last fall insist that the lad is too good already.

Comparative Values and Such

Congress ought to pass a law regulating the amount of publicity granted to various people who emerge from prison. Alphonse Capone is released and he hasn't been off the front page ever since. Al has been trying to figure some way of resuming his $25,000,000 crime business in Chicago, and you can't say he hasn't been getting lots of free advertising. Even a London reporter tried to reach him by long distance the other day. But poor ol' Doc Cook leaves the penitentiary to start in on some useful work to benefit humanity and he only made the front page briefly.

And people are wondering why the impressionable youth of America has so many embryo gunmen in its ranks.

Just to show that it doesn't pay to rush into things without proper forethought, a Mexican, pronounced dead by a physician, broke open his coffin just thirty minutes before interment was due to take place. (The Mexicans bury 'em in a hurry.) But that, after all, isn't quite as disastrous as the practical joke which once occurred in Paris when a gentleman with a morbid sense of humor hid himself in a coffin belonging to a Parisian undertaker. The undertaker's assistant came to work that evening, and, being used to having a corpse or so about the place, paid little attention to the occupant of the particular coffin.

But, when the occupant, intent on his little joke, sat up and began to moan, the assistant dropped dead from fright.

ROBERT FROST'S BIRTH

On March 26, 1875, Robert Frost, American poet, noted for his poems of New England life, was born in San Francisco.

When he was 10 he moved with his parents to Lawrence, Mass., where he received his elementary education. He studied a year at Dartmouth, two more at Harvard, and then taught English and psychology in secondary schools in New Hampshire. It was in this period that he first took the writing of poetry seriously.

Convinced he could develop his powers abroad, Frost sailed for England in 1912. In the three years he remained there he published "A Boy's Will," his first book of verse, and made the acquaintance of Ezra Pound, poet. On his return to this country he retired to a farm in New Hampshire but left it later to teach at Amherst College and the University of Michigan.

Frost's poems reveal the soul and soil of New England. One critic said of them: "They are of the highest importance as social history—if as nothing else for men in coming generations will turn to them, after time has wrought its slow changes, to find in the the forgotten aspects of their ancestors."

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, March 29, 1905
About 60 boys ranging from 10 to 15 years of age had organized a military company and had selected Sergeant Marcus Steinhauer, of Company G, as their drill master.

Nick Schaefer, J. W. Carter, Peter Bartman, and Joseph Kroner left that morning for New London to visit their stock farm.

Spring vacation began at Lawrence university that afternoon and was to continue for one week.

The first boating party of the season on the Fox river was held the day before when a large party of Lawrence university students chartered a number of boats and took a trip to Potato Point and back.

Announcement had been made of the coming marriage of Miss Della Stelow, Menasha, and Harry Hawkins, Appleton, which was to take place May 7.

J. A. Kroner and family were visiting in New London that day.

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Reeve left that morning for Milwaukee to attend the production of "Parasol." Others who were to attend from Appleton included Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Meyer, Mrs. Joseph Koffend, Sr., and daughter, Emma.

Mayor J. A. Hawes led Mayor Lothar Graef by 79 votes in the primary election the day before, the former receiving 616 ballots by official count, while the latter received 567.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Wells was at Oshkosh that day for a visit.

E. S. Colvin had been elected secretary of the Meyer Press to succeed the late William Meyer.

THE CAUSE OF STOMACH ULCER

The other day I published here some sad news, viz, that every guy has TWO stomachs irrespective of the number of chins he sports. The upper stomach being the well known broad basket of commerce; the lower or glowing in the name of duodenum, which means literally, that it is the seat of the ulcer.

Important to correct the condition immediately after birth, in order to gain the benefit of the very rapid growth and development of the earliest weeks.

A Regenerative Regimen for Rheumatism

Is rheumatism caused from acids or poisons in the system? If so, how can it be prevented or cured? I had a pain in my shoulder... left my shoulder and went down to my left knee and calf... (L. S.)

Answer—No definite condition is recognized as "rheumatism." Some good physicians believe such trouble as you describe may be due to degenerative changes in the body after the prime of life, attributable to insufficient proportions of the protective foods in the diet—foods that furnish vitamins. A diet low in vitamins may have something to do with acidosis. At any rate, let me suggest a regenerative regimen for you, a diet which will give adequate proportions of protective foods and help to stop, or even reverse the degenerative process.

Hard Floors
I am 19 years old and I walk around nine hours a day on hard wood floors wearing slippers without heels, is there danger of getting flat feet or other trouble? (S. M.)

Answer—No, in fact you are less likely to suffer any ill effect than you would be wearing stiff shoes with heels. Going barefoot, or wearing soft, flexible moccasins or similar foot cover is much better for anyone's feet and health than heavy, stiff boots or shoes of any description.

The Tynmites

THE Travel Man said, with a smile, "Now you lads wait here for a while. I have a little business I must tend to right away. The men will soon unload the ship of what came over on this trip. Now watch while it goes on to, or just stay right here and play."

The bunch played round an hour or so and then a loud voice said, "Hi, ho! I'm back again, and now we all will go somewhere to eat."

It was the friendly Travel Man and to his side the Tynites ran. "I'm hungry," shouted Clowzy. "Food will be a welcome treat."

A fine cafe was right nearby and when they went in, oh my, they ate until they simply couldn't eat another thing. Their friend said, "I am glad to say I like to see you eat that way. Now, is there something more that I can have the waiter bring?"

"Oh, no," cried Clowzy. "We must quit this eating while we're feeling fit. I hope I don't get drowsy. There is so much to be seen. I'd hate to miss a single sight. I will not close my eyes tonight. I know we will enjoy things if our wits are keen."

Then Clowzy said, "Where do we go from here, is what I'd like to know." The Travel Man just smiled and snapped, "To London—right away! We'll ride the boat train. 'Twill be fun." And 'twas no sooner said than done. They rode to London, watching all the sights along the way.

In London town the Travel Man said, "Now we'll do whatever we can to please you little fellows. Ah! Here comes an omnibus! Come on, we'll hop aboard it quick. This is a ride that you'll find slick." "That's true," exclaimed one Tyny. "You are very kind to us."

Clubfoot

Would you consider prospects good for straightening an infant's twisted foot if tended to early in life? (E. P. C.)

Answer—Clubfoot responds best to manipulation and successively applied retentive plaster splints or casts from the earliest weeks. Every week the beginning of treatment is postponed renders the prospect of complete success poorer. Clubfoot is simply an interruption or delay in the natural development and growth of the foot, so you see it is very

VALLEY SCOUTS
HOLD CAMP-O-RAL
HERE JUNE 14, 15

Leaders Meet Wednesday Night at Scout Office to Complete Plans

Valley council scout masters will be in Appleton Wednesday evening to discuss a program for the Camp-o-Ral which the scout masters recently voted to hold here at Erb park June 14 and 15. Wednesday's meeting will begin at 7:30 at valley council headquarters.

The purpose of the Camp-o-Ral is to educate the public as to what the boy scout program is accomplishing in the lives of boys, according to M. G. Clark, council executive; to increase troop and patrol loyalty, unity and efficiency; to help scoutmasters plan their programs through the balance of the season; to further develop the outdoor program of scouting; to give patrol leaders and other junior leaders an opportunity to demonstrate leadership ability and accept real responsibility; and to promote interest in summer camp.

Wednesday's meeting will give scout masters an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the coming program and to make a choice of work their troop will do for exhibit or build during the rally.

The Camp-o-Ral program will open Saturday, June 14, with a parade at 9 o'clock in the morning, the parade to be headed by a band and drum and bugle corps. The group will form at a central location and march to the camp site at Erb park, each group taking over an assigned section where tents will be set up.

Constructive scout craft projects will be made and exhibited during the afternoon and a grand review will feature at 4:30, with formal retreat. Stunts will feature the evening's camp fire program from 6:30 to 8 o'clock, after which there will be an investiture ceremony for new boys.

Sunday's program will open at 6:30 with reveille and will be followed by a special field mass for Catholic scouts. Breakfast is scheduled for 7:30, and from 8:30 to 10:30 the period will be devoted to breaking camp. At 10:30 a fellowship service for all scouts has been arranged and at 11:30 the boys will leave for their respective homes.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes: Clyde P. Schroeder, chairman; Percy Hughes, Donald Rusch, George Bretting, H. H. Brown, John McAndrews, and Dr. E. J. Ladner.

MOORE ASKED TO JOIN
ORCHESTRA COMMITTEE

Ernest C. Moore, professor of Instrumental Methods at the Lawrence Conservatory, has been asked to become a member of the National High School Orchestra committee, at the Music Supervisors' National convention in Chicago this week. He will have charge of the flute section of the orchestra.

A concert was given Tuesday afternoon by the National High School Orchestra, which was broadcast over the National Broadcasting System. This ensemble is made up of 200 students selected from schools in all parts of the United States, and is under the direction of J. E. Maddy, a prominent figure in school music. The concert this afternoon was under the direction of Walter Damrosch, noted orchestral conductor and lecturer.

"COMING TO TERMS WITH OTHERS"
Wednesday
"Belief in the Goodness of Others."
SCRIPTURE
Memory Verse: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" (Matthew 22:39).
Read: Matthew 22:34-40.
MEDITATION
This means, in part: thou shalt trust thy neighbor—believe in him. The person who is to get along with others must believe in their goodness, especially in their good intentions. Faith begets ground for faith. It is the truest interpreter. The only safe creed is: I believe that my neighbor is as good as I am. That ought not to be difficult, except for the Pharisee. Does not our personal experience convince us that there are not many people who are cowards or who do not seem to be trying to find the right and to do it? Belief that they are thus striving to serve the good as they see it will give us endless patience and consideration. This was Lincoln's way. If we can only believe that those who differ from us are as well intentioned as we are, we can always get along with them.

PRAYER
O Lord, we thank Thee for those who believe in us and trust us, and who by their generous faith and confidence are ever lifting us to higher levels of performance. May this our gratitude teach us to show a like spirit as we move among the companions of this day. Amen.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS FOR LENTEN SHOP MEETINGS

Lenten shop meetings again will be sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., according to George F. Werner, general secretary of the association. Plans for the meetings now are being made by Mr. Werner in cooperation with Edward F. Mumm, director of the 12th field artillery band. The band will furnish musical entertainment for the meeting.

On a visit to the school Miss Klein found 17 of the 39 pupils absent. She immediately started an investigation and found that 14 of these students were suffering from mumps and that every one of the 14 had been stricken the same night. This made it very evident, Miss Klein said, that all the children contracted the disease while at school from some other pupil. Miss Klein said that probably the infected student had a very mild case of mumps which was not easily noticed and that caused the spread of the disease. She cautioned parents to be very careful about sending their children to school if they feel ill. Play safe, she urged, call a doctor and make sure that the illness is not serious or contagious.

XI chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national Professional Musical fraternity for women, presented Barbara Simmons, 209 Neenah, in organ recital at the First Methodist Episcopal church Monday evening. Miss Simmons is a student of William C. Webb, F. R. Co.

The program was opened with the Bach Toccata and Fugue in C major, of which three movements were played; the Toccata, and Adagio, and the Fugue. Miss Simmons showed fine interpretive power, marked by excellent phrasing, and clarity of voices in the polyphonic form of the fugue. Her second group consisted of two tone poems, "The Swan" by Saint-Saens, and the "Dance of the Reed Flutes" from Tchaikowski's "Nutcracker Suite." Both were very attractively presented, with lovely registration effects.

Elmer Harbik, '32, soprano, from the studio of Gertrude Farrell, assisted Miss Simmons on the program with a group of vocal solos. She sang "May Day Carol," by Deems Taylor, and "Ah! Love but a Day" by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach. Her singing was clear, and with fine tone quality. Mr. Webb accompanied her on the organ.

Miss Simmons, and Lucella Erbe, pianist, from the studio of Gladys Ives Brainard, played an organ and pianoforte duet, "Dialogue and Romance," by Chopin.

The program was closed with "Sonata Romantica," by Pietro Mascagni. A very brilliant number, which was played with finish and well developed technique. "Serenade" by Moskowski, was played as an encore.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

CORRINNE didn't know that anyone had entered until a pair of strong arms grasped her and a merry voice said: "So you are going to wear it. Good stuff! And you look like a million dollars!" It was Harry Becker's voice and she saw his reflection in the mirror.

Corrinne raised her eyes and turned her face so the light from the door fell across it. "Oh, my land!" The man fell back a step. "I'd have sworn that you were Sue. Why don't you have some light? How can you inspect yourself in the shadows?" He found the switch and immediately a soft melow glow from the lamps in the room sprang into bloom.

"You almost kissed me again, didn't you, Harry?" Corrinne asked, her new clothes still inspiring that conquering confidence that feminine hearts cherish. "But this time it was mistaken identity. I was merely dressing up for fun."

She ran upstairs, laughing down at him, and calling to Sue. Sue, however, had come into the hall in time to hear Harry's first words and was waiting at the head of the stairs.

"Corrinne Merryman, I could shake you!" she began. "Harry will think you're trying to start a flirtation."

"No, he won't," her younger sister answered calmly. "Men never get the right idea." She removed the new ensemble.

When Sue went downstairs Harry was waiting in the swing on the porch, chatting with Mr. Merryman who had been ready for an hour. Harry jumped up quickly and at the infinite tenderness in his eyes, Sue felt the lump in her throat expand. She wanted to go to him and tell him all of her worries which was the last thing in the world she could ever do. Instead she sat down and talked lightly and merrily.

There were a dozen guests at the Becker dinner, and Sue, seated at the right of Mr. Becker, with Harry on her right, smiled into her mother's eyes across the table.

Sue was surprised at the easy manner of her family in the presence of the great wealth represented by the other family. After all, really great people were always simple, she reflected. And these who had the splendour of income, breeding and training fitted anywhere. Her mother was as composed as though her printed silk was a golden sheen like Nancy Becker's, and Mr. Becker was as gracious to her as though she were a queen.

Sue knew more keenly that she had realized before that her family would be disappointed now. It was not that she loved Harry. Neither her father nor her mother would have sanctioned the union for an instant had they thought that she entered it unwillingly, but to them it was something infinitely wonderful that she loved Harry Becker and was loved by him in turn.

Love? Sue let her eyes roam over the table with its sparkling silver and crystal, lilywhite linens, and wild, sweet roses. There was only one whom she loved.

"Oh, I think that will be lovely," Corrinne's admiring voice carried to Sue in a sudden conversational lull. I'll leave whenever you say."

NEXT: Corrinne makes a conquest.

PRACTICAL JOKER ANGERS WIFE AND LANDS IN LOCKUP

Evanson, Ill. — (P) — Harry Gordon, wise-cracker and practical joker, has landed in jail. Mrs. Gordon had him put there last night. For years, she said, she had endured the usual line of jokes and tried to smile when Gordon admonished his friends not to take any wooden nickels. She had eaten salt for sugar, been squirted with water when she smelled fake roses and seen any number of cigars explode.

But last night he introduced a new one. Mrs. Gordon brought a girlhood chum out to the house and introduced her to the husband. He shook his head, looked the guest over lazily, remarked that she needed a shampoo and, dragging her to the bathroom gave her one.

That, Mrs. Gordon told police, was the last joke.

General Weather
The low pressure area which was centered over the Ohio Valley yesterday morning has moved northward and now overlies Lake Huron, with Perry Sound, Ont., reporting a barometer reading this morning of 29.98 inches. This "low" has caused snow and high wind throughout the lake region and upper Mississippi valley, with Chicago reporting 12 inches of snow on the ground this morning and Milwaukee 5 inches. Many other places in the upper lakes reported heavy snow. Snow or rain also occurred in all the eastern and southern sections of the country. This disturbance is followed by high pressure over the Canadian Northwest, which is bringing generally fair weather to nearly all sections from the plains states westward. Snow and continued high winds are expected tonight and Thursday, with continued cold.

WHOLE SOME DESSERTS IMPORTANT

Especially in the Diet of Growing Children

Puddings made of rice, tapioca or cornstarch; custards and ice cream are appropriate desserts for the development of the growing child who is underweight.

Such a dessert not only supplements the other food in the meal but causes the child to leave the table satisfied. And if the desserts are presented in pleasant variety, there will be no fear of the child rejecting any of them, thereby missing their nourishing content of milk, eggs and other essential foods.

The part sugar plays in making these desserts appealing should be considered in relation to other foods. Those which are carriers of vitamins, minerals and roughage can be made as inviting as desserts by the use of sugar as a flavor. Cabbage, onions, cauliflower, turnips, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, spinach, parsnips, peas and other vegetables—cooked or fresh—are much improved in appetizing qualities when seasoned with a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. Likewise sugar is ideal on fruits and cereals.

Doctors and dietitians approve this use of sugar. For, when the flavor of a food is inviting to the taste, the flow of gastric juices is increased, thus aiding digestion. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Interesting Menus

BY SISTER MARY

NEA Service Writer
Although few women attempt to make breads and rolls today with the baker supplying consistently perfect products, quick breads and rolls are very popular in the home kitchen.

During early spring, when unseasonably warm days and rains sap appetites, fruit breads or rolls fresh from the oven will be found uncommonly inviting when served with cottage cheese for luncheon. These rolls are quickly and easily made and give a large "return" for the effort.

The rule is basically a baking powder biscuit formula with eggs and fruit added as needed. More or less shortening is used, depending on the nature of the roll wanted.

Marmalade Rolls
Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, 1-2 cup milk (about, 1-2 teaspoon salt, marmalade, 1-2 cup nuts, 1 tablespoon softened butter.

RAILROAD SYSTEM BETWEEN COASTS NOT YET LIKELY

Mississippi River Proves Unconquerable in Trade Sense

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

Washington (CPA)—The idea of a great transcontinental railroad system extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific is just as far off today as it was 50 years ago. That fact has become evident in connection with the report of the acquisition of the Missouri Pacific stock by the Van Sweringen interests. It can be definitely and confidently stated that the Van Sweringens have no intention whatever of operating the Chesapeake and Ohio-Nickel Plate-Erie hook-up with the Missouri Pacific, Denver and Rio Grande, Western and Western Pacific in a transcontinental system.

It is certainly true that the Van Sweringen interests through the Alleghany Corporation have acquired a strong interest in the Missouri Pacific. The Alleghany Corporation could today command representation on the board of directors of the Missouri Pacific and its subsidiary roads. Eventually that representation could be sought and obtained, but it may be years before even this takes place.

It will be remembered that the Van Sweringens did not request representation on either the Erie or Pere Marquette boards until at least six years after they had acquired an interest in each which would justify such representation.

The Cleveland men who have become such a dominant factor in the railroads of America have bought this interest in Missouri Pacific as an investment. They foresee in it the possibility that the Missouri Pacific may eventually become a second Chesapeake and Ohio so far as earnings are concerned. Then too, the Missouri Pacific owns a half interest in the Denver and Rio Grande Western. The other half interest is controlled by the Western Pacific in which Curtis James, the largest individual railroad security holder in the world, is a dominant factor.

SEES GOOD INVESTMENT
If Mr. James should take it into his head the remaining 50 per cent of the stock of the Denver and Rio Grande would be advantageous to him the Van Sweringen interest in the Missouri Pacific would unquestionably be a valuable investment. If the Missouri Pacific decided that it needed all of the Denver and Rio Grande Western, the Van Sweringens would be in a preferred position for the acquisition of the same for the Missouri Pacific.

Many men have looked with longing eyes on the railroad maps of the country, tracing routes from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans. None has succeeded in putting across a single great system for the Mississippi river has proved a barrier as unconquerable in a trade sense as the ocean itself is in a physical sense. When the Missouri Pacific, gathering the products of the agricultural trade and industry throughout the west, arrives at the Mississippi, it must have an outlet not only through one system but outlets through half a dozen systems in order to prove profitable. On the other hand, it must gather west-bound freight from a score of other roads in order to make the west bound car loading profitable.

If the Missouri Pacific had only the Van Sweringen lines to draw from and distribute to its future, would be far less bright than it is at present.

It is this economic law which has and will continue to nullify any desires which the Van Sweringens may have for an ocean-to-ocean line. It is true that if they secured control of the Missouri Pacific they would not have to go to the interstate commerce commission for approval, since the roads are end to end lines and not competing lines but it would be of no benefit to arrange such a hook-up.

NEED OUTLETS, FEEDERS
The question of interest in the Missouri Pacific should not be astonishing since the Van Sweringens need outlets from the Mississippi west and feeders from the Mississippi east to bolster the business of their C. & O.-Nickel Plate combination. It should not be overlooked that consolidation in the middle and far west are fully as complicated as those in the east. The Northern Pacific and the Great Northern desired to merge into one line taking in with them the Chicago-Burlington and Quincy.

The interstate commerce commission permitted the joining of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific but prohibited the inclusion of the Burlington. Curtis James, having heavy holdings in the Burlington is necessarily seeking the most effective hookup possible for that road. For a time it was thought that perhaps the solution might be arrived at by a distribution of the stock of the Burlington to the shareholders of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, but railroad men in close touch with the situation de-

Watzl Killed Self So Kin Could Collect Insurance

Vienna (AP)—Although Dr. Hermann (Ernst) Watzl, chemist and inventor, died in a suicide pact with another woman his last thoughts were of his American wife at home in Cleveland and their two children. The exact time of the shot which first killed his bigamous bride, formerly Mrs. Mary McGranahan of Cleveland and then took his own life has not been determined, but it is believed they were fired just before midnight Sunday, when his life insurance premiums would have expired.

A letter to a Vienna intimate found near the body of Watzl as it was discovered in a dowry room of the Hotel Sacher, contained the passage:

"Knowing the custom of insurance companies I realized that my wife would be unable to cash my policy of $35,000 unless she could establish my death officially. But I also knew that the claim would fall if my premiums were not paid regularly to my death.

"Then I remembered the insurance installment falling due tomorrow which I am unable to meet. Thus my wife will be robbed unless I die today. I am therefore going today, before the premium is due."

In another hotel Watzl and Mary McGranahan asked that they be cremated together.

Watzl's letter told a long story of travel and financial difficulty after his mysterious disappearance last November.

"I first went to New York where I bought a false passport in the name of Flassak and secretly married Mary McGranahan. Fearing recognition, we determined to quit New York, which we did, and went to Canada.

"In Canada we were nearly caught, so we decided to go to coast and take a steamer across the Pacific. We did so, sailing to Tokio, where I hoped to find a job but clared that this proposal now has been abandoned for a time at least.

The Denver and Rio Grande and Western Pacific hook-up with the Burlington, however, would offer one way out. Just how the interstate commerce commission would regard various proposals regarding the Burlington remain for further decision but at least the acquisition of substantial stock interests in the Missouri Pacific by the Van Sweringens places them in a position of influence and importance which probably could be secured in no better way.

AMATEUR DENTIST IS FOUND DEAD IN HOME
Springfield, Mo. (AP)—Elwyn Bentley, 60, wealthy retired bank president, whose hobby for pulling women's teeth caused his arrest in St. Louis last week, was found shot to death in a bath tub at his palatial residence here last night.

A brother, Frank C. Bentley, found the body, clothed in a bathrobe and propped up, with a bullet wound in the head, apparently inflicted with suicidal intent.

Bentley's attorneys had expected to force dismissal of Mrs. Mildred Rankin's complaint charging the practicing of dentistry and common assault, when it was called in St. Louis Friday, under the statute of limitations. Mrs. Rankin, who is 25, declared Bentley extracted three of her teeth without permission two years ago after he asked to clean her teeth. He was under $1,000 bond.

Bentley, who sold his bank about 15 years ago, which he inherited, declared to police in St. Louis at the time of his arrest that he had been practicing dentistry in an "unprofessional way" since that time and that in the last 10 years he estimated he had treated 200 women.

Tap Trees For Sap Three Weeks Earlier This Year

BY W. F. WINSEY

Medina—Sugar bushes in this vicinity have been tapped three weeks earlier than usual this spring and sap running right and day and filling the buckets in one half of time required in regular springs. Maple sugar manufacturers are expecting the season to last at least three weeks longer making a total of six weeks.

Mrs. Fred Breyer, tapped 250 trees March 7, and is getting the best run of sap she has enjoyed for years. The usual time for her to tap her trees is April 1. The sap several times has filled the buckets to overflowing at night. She has already made forty gallons of syrup and expects to make as many more before the season closes.

Mrs. Breyer is using a new arch that she built this spring in her sugar bush for evaporation purposes but finishes the syrup on her kitchen stove. She is using galvanized buckets as they never rust and give a high grade of syrup. Last Wednesday morning after an all night run, she gathered five barrels of sap. Thursday morning when the sun came up and struck the buckets covered with ice, she was delighted with the glittering, sparkling effect in her sugar bush.

Sam. Ruppel tapped his sugar bush last Friday, is getting a good run of sap, and is doing his evaporation on an arch in his farm yard. Among the other maple syrup manufacturers in this vicinity who are already at work are: Edward Roester who has tapped 80 trees and Frank Spieglberg who has tapped 200 trees.

CARNERA, TRAFTON BATTLE TONIGHT

Italian Heavy Will Meet
Football Star in Kansas City Ring

Kansas City—(AP)—Primo Carnera, 270-pound Italian carpenter, tonight will attempt to increase his steadily growing string of knockout victories at the expense of George Traffton, Notre Dame and professional football star, who previously donned the padded gloves to defeat Art Shires, Chicago, White Sox first baseman.

Although fans are frankly skeptical of Traffton's chances against the foreign man mountain, the former football player today expressed confidence that he will stay the limit.

"My plans are simple," Traffton said. "With the bell I'm after that big hunk of cheese and then let him look out."

Carnera, whose managers have built up considerable of a reputation for their proteges by matching him against second and third rate boxers, has trained consistently for the match.

Advance ticket sales indicate a capacity crowd. The scrap is scheduled for ten rounds.

WILL ADMIT KIDS
FREE TO BALL GAMES

Chicago—(AP)—Good news for baseball hungry "kiddies."

As a part of an organized campaign to reawaken interest in baseball among boys, all major league clubs may permit them to see four or more games each week free during the 1930 season.

Chicago's major league clubs, the Cubs and White Sox, already have agreed to have four "kiddie days" a week and may increase the bargain to every day except Sundays and holidays.

With other club owners and commission men behind the movement, other clubs, major and minor, are expected to follow suit.

Question—In what faith was Jack Dempsey baptized?

Answer—The Norman faith according to his father's statement.

SHIRES WILL HAVE TO FIGHT FOR JOB

San Antonio, Tex.—(AP)—Charles Arthur Shires may be as great as he claims to be but he has to prove it to Donnie Bush, manager of the White Sox.

Although the "great one" gained reinstatement and signed a contract at Chicago yesterday, he will have to fight to get his old first base job back, manager Bush said.

Shires, the last of the White Sox holdouts, was en route to camp today, penitent but "all set to outfight Hornsby and Ruth."

THIS IS WHY O'DOUL IS A RANKING HITTER

Winter Haven—(AP)—Lefty O'Doul, Philly outfielder and champion league batter last year, says that he was so mad when the Giants traded him to the "This 'tweeners" club that he had to do something about it.

"So every time I stepped to the plate," he said, "I'd say, 'There's one for me and one for Mr. Gray.' I'm set to show McGraw some more this year, too. Guess I'll be up with the first five anyway."

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Whether it is because of Hack Wilson, who in spite of Mr. McCarthy's Cubs pay a great deal of attention to fights and fighters. . . . At the time of the recent Sharkey-Scott thing, practically every member of the Bruin forces had definite opinions on its outcome. . . . Wilson hung a "Leo Durocher" on Coach Jimmy Burke the other day. . . . I don't have a word to say until I joined the Cubs," said Coach Burke. . . . "You never were in the big leagues until you joined the Cubs," replied Hack, and Coach Burke quickly left the room. . . . Brick Owens, the inspire, put Johnny Farrell, the best-dressed goiter to shame recently in St. Petersburg. . . . The Irish appeared on a course attired in blue stockings, and blue sweater to play a round with his president, E. S. Barnard. . . . Barnard's only comment was, "You talk a wonderful game."

BABE RUTH THINKS YANKS WILL BE CHAMPS

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(AP)—Always an optimist Babe Ruth is ready to show cause why he thinks the New York Yankees are going to win the American league pennant. The A's he says, reached top form in the world's series and "perhaps by now they've slipped."

"The Yankees have been strengthened," Ruth explains. "Chapman will be all right at third if he hits the old apple a little harder. I don't see how Gomez can miss being a regular pitcher."

DIXIE HURLER SHOWS WELL FOR MCARTHY

Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—George Bell, a six foot two inch strapping just up from Dixie, today had an inside track in the race for the three or four pitching berths open on the championship Cubs.

His last start was a finished exhibition game for the Cubs impressively for the second time yesterday, limiting the Los Angeles Angels to six scattered blows. The Cubs won, 8 to 0.

One more game with the Angels today and then the Cubs open their important four-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

THREE CLOUDS STILL DARKEN CUB CHANCES

Oakland, Calif.—(AP)—Three clouds continue to darken the Pittsburgh Pirates' chances of winning the championship. The first is Lloyd Waner's condition; the second is Traylor's injury; the third is Grimes' absence.

It now seems doubtful if Lloyd, slow in regaining strength following an operation, will be ready to play nine innings by the time the season opens.

Pie Traynor, too, have been absent from his third base position for several days suffering from a sore eye and Grimes, pitching ace, ending a stay at Hot Springs, Ark., yesterday said his salary differences with the club management remained unchanged.

REALISTIC BIRDS ARE SEEN ON HATS

Worn as Brooches, They Form Appropriate, Attractive Ornament

By AILEEN LAMONT
Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press, New York (C.P.A.)—You will see very realistic birds in stores just about matching the color of real Sports hats. Though small, and worn as brooches, the grouse, pheasant or wild duck is faithfully copied, etched in the center of the hat front. It is an appropriate and attractive ornament.

Since little Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke of York, has begun wearing ruffled organdie frocks, most little girls in the peerage list are doing the same. The frocks are delightfully juvenile affairs in gay colors, sleeveless, with one narrow ruffle about the round neck, a plain bodice and a skirt made up of seven ruffles each two inches wide.

There seems no end to the variety of handbags for use with sports clothes. In silk or in metal cloth, in rep or in printed cotton, they are of a brightness which can easily make—or mar—a costume. Among the popular shades are lipstick, foam green, sun tan, tangerine and all the blues.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS MEET FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Madison—(P)—Debate teams from three Wisconsin high schools will discuss installment buying here Friday night for the state championship.

Hoyer will preside in the senate chambers, and the presiding officer in the assembly will be Charles E. Perry, speaker of the 1929 session.

The three high schools are winners from among more than 200 state high schools. New Richmond emerged winner in the northern section, having defeated Chippewa Falls and Ladysmith. Viroqua took the central section championship from Wausau and Kaukauna. In the southern section, Mayville defeated Ft. Atkinson and Washington high school of Milwaukee.

According to plans, a conference breakfast is planned Saturday at which discussion of the debates the night before will be made. George Balzer, principal of Washington high school, Milwaukee, and president of the Wisconsin High School Forensic association, sponsors of the debate will preside.

ASK COOPERATION IN TRADE CENSUS

Chamber of Commerce President Says Reports Will Be Confidential

Joining in the nation-wide "persuasive and inductive" campaign of trade associations and business organizations to expedite the current biennial and decennial census of manufacturers, the Appleton chamber of commerce is making an appeal to local manufacturers to fill out their questionnaires promptly and accurately.

If census figures are to be current and timely, the manufacturers must not delay their reports. President Harvey Schlitz, of the chamber points out. And since the value of the whole census is contingent upon the time element, the local chamber is particularly anxious that prompt returns be made by local manufacturing establishments, which, in the census survey, comprise plants engaged in conversion of raw or partly manufactured materials into finished or partly finished products, bakeries, and printing and publishing offices.

The bureau of the census has informed the chamber that it is now prepared to issue a preliminary report for Appleton within three weeks. The statistics returns have been received from all manufacturers. This report will carry statistics showing the number of manufacturing establishments; number of wage earners; wages paid; combined cost of materials, fuel, and power; and value of products. It will be issued by the census bureau through the chamber of commerce for publication.

A questionnaire was mailed to every local manufacturing establishment in January or the early part of February, and is to be returned in the envelope sent with it.

President Schlitz declares that local manufacturers need not hesitate about answering the inquiries on the questionnaires because the census bureau will treat each individual return in strict confidence. Under the law no one other than an employee of the census bureau, who is sworn to hold secret the operations of all individual concerns, will be permitted to examine the reports of the manufacturers, and no information can or will be given out by the census bureau to any person outside the bureau, whether in government employ or in private life, which would disclose exactly or approximately, any facts or figures of individual concern. This makes it impossible for any other government bureau to examine individual reports.

Talks To Parents

INFERIORITY

By Mrs. Agnes Lynne

The term, "inferiority complex" has passed into common usage, and most people have a pretty fair idea of its meaning—probably because all of us have inferiority feelings of which now and then we become painfully aware.

Most of us know from personal experience how unserviceable is this feeling of inferiority. The thoughtful, intelligent mother is trying to spare her children from it.

It is perhaps worth while for her to realize that the profoundest feelings of inferiority, and those which it is almost impossible to overcome, are those which arise within the family circle.

The little girl, who, through pre-ferment of an older brother, is given the feeling that men are superior to women carries through life a feeling of inferiority to men, and a consequent grudge against them. The child who, through being teased about her looks, is given the notion that she is ugly, remains always convinced of her own ugliness despite abundance of evidence to the contrary.

The child who is unloved at home grows up feeling that he is incapable of inspiring love in any one.

Growing up in a home wherein he is well loved and not made self-conscious about his shortcomings, real or imaginary, is the best possible guarantee a child can have against hampering feelings of inferiority in any other situation. There is little that the cruelty of playmates or the difficulties of school life can do to a child who is thus fortified.

He has the self confidence which enables him to handle his own problems to the best of his actual ability. For the "inferiority complex," like charity, is real only when it begins at home.

In raising tariff barriers against importation of musical instruments, Sweden has exempted the saxophone and fagots, otherwise known as bassoons, flutes, and clarinets.

Milk Tester Inventor Of Milk Can Washer, Drier

BY W. F. WINSEY

Necessity is the mother of invention, they say. Whether the statement is true, Roy G. Schrock, the mail order cow tester in the court house laboratory, to decrease hand labor and to do a clean job that was impossible by hand, invented, built, and started using, last September, a milk can washer and drier. His machine is on exhibit in his laboratory and the clean work that it does is on exhibit in each of the homes of the 180 members of the mail order cow testing association whom he is serving.

Mr. Schrock's machine consists of three parts, a metal drying cabinet 12 1/2 by 18 1/2 by 21 inches with flames underneath when in operation; rack to hold the milk cans when they are being washed outside or are being dried in the cabinet; and wire screens of the same dimensions as the racks to hold the cans in position when being washed or dried.

The cans are handled only on two occasions, namely, when being placed in the racks, and when they are being removed from the racks. The racks and screen wires support the cans in any position, such as right end up, bottom up, or sideways. The cans may be filled in the crates, shaken vigorously, and turned bottom side up to drain.

The capacity of washer and drier is 250 cans. By the use of the machine 60 cans may be washed clean and be dried perfectly in the time that it takes to wash two cans by hand and to pass them on without drying.

In a short time, Mr. Schrock's invention probably will find its way into the majority of the mail order cow testing laboratories of Wisconsin.

FISH WEREN'T HUNGRY

Grimsby, England—One of the worst fish catches of the year was reported here recently when a vessel returned from Greenland waters. The entire catch consisted of one halibut and four boxes of torsk, valued at about $40. The ship was en route to the Belgian Congo when the crew returned after a month on the sea, and the loss during the trip was estimated at more than $5,000.

Brussels—This year's budget provides $2,300,000 for aviation, the largest appropriation of its kind ever made in Belgium. The trans-continental line to the Belgian Congo will be subsidized with $450,000 and $300,000 will be devoted to encouraging distance flights.

Keep Free from FAT in excess; it's easy now

Modern science has found that excess fat is largely due to an under-active gland. Starve as you will, exercise as you will, you are bound to fail unless you correct the cause.

That gland largely controls nutrition. When it is weak, too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy. So modern physicians, in treating obesity, supply the gland substance which is scant.

That is the method employed in Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous medical laboratory. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Anybody, in any circle, can see what a change has come. Excess fat is disappearing fast. New youth and beauty, new health and vitality, are conspicuous everywhere.

If you are abnormal in your weight, a certain gland is abnormal. Try Marmola. Feed the factor lacking. Watch the pounds go, the new vitality return. You will be amazed and delighted. But the formula in each box of Marmola will tell you the reason. To people who know, there is no excuse today for obesity. Start to remedy that ill condition now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

HERE AND THERE WITH FARMERS

By testing his cows twice each month for milk and butterfat production, culling boarders and other low producing cows, and feeding according to production, Joe Doering, route 4, is now doing better with a herd of eight cows than with a former herd of fifteen cows. He prefers the present small herd because he gets the same production as from the larger herd with less expense and less labor.

With four strippers in his herd, his herd of eight cows is now averaging 250 pounds of milk daily testing 4 per cent. He is now drying up a fine, big cow that has been condemned by the tester as a boarder. Most people would pick this cow as one of the outstanding cows of the herd.

Three 50 pound cows standing in a row attract the attention of visitors to the Doering stables. Nancy, a grade Holstein, 3 years old in June has been giving 40 pounds of milk daily testing 3.94, since last October. Kit a five year old Guernsey grade, is giving 30 pounds of milk daily testing 5.8. The herd sire two years old is a fine looking animal. His dam is a big milk and butterfat producer.

The Doering stable and cattle are models of cleanliness. The cattle get home mixed grain rations and other home grown feeds and all feeds are weighed before being placed in the mangers. For pasture next summer the Doerings are depending on 3 acres of sweet clover seeding, and 3 acres of a mixture of sweet clover and oats that they intend to sow this spring to be on the safe side. They expect to be mowed with manure and will continue raising Black Cap Raspberries through next summer.

Their hay for next winter will be harvested from a 4 acre field of alfalfa and a 6 acre field of red clover. If any of their seeding fail, they may try a mixture of oats and sweet clover or soy beans and sweet clover, as emergency crops.

Albert Jentz, route 4, has a fine looking drove of 15 Poland China hogs that average better than 100 pounds.

"Hogs, when hooked up with dairymen can be depended to pay quite well through a term of years, if they range on clover pasture in summer and get whey or skim milk," said Mr. Jentz. Ground oats, and corn meal in whey or skim milk is a good ration for hogs, according to Mr. Jentz.

If freezing and thawing continues, Mr. Jentz fears that very little clover and alfalfa will survive the ordeal. He has never tried sweet clover pasture but raised alfalfa until his stand winter killed two years ago. He is now milking 9 cows and getting a very satisfactory flow or milk.

William McCarthy is now milking 16 cows but that number will soon be raised to 26. He is not feeding as heavily as usual as the milk at present prices does not pay for the feed. In summer he pastures his cows on 60 acres of permanent pasture. In winter he feeds a mixture of red clover and alfalfa hay. He still has a lot of corn silage and hay. His clover seeding looked all right before the heavy freeze up of Thursday night. If his red clover fails he will rework the field and may plant oats and sweet clover for hay, or a mixture of soy beans and sweet clover. He has munched his patch with manure and will continue raising Black Cap Raspberries through next summer.

Mike McCarthy who put four acres of sweet clover in his silo last summer is not able to report on the value of sweet clover silage as it is still covered with corn silage. Last season he pastured his cattle on 12 acres of sweet clover. The field produced a great milk flow throughout the summer. He fed alfalfa hay last winter and is still feeding it this spring. Thirty acres will supply him with all the alfalfa hay he needs next winter. If the alfalfa seeding kills out he will plow the field and plant it either with corn or a mixture of oats and sweet clover to cut for hay. Excepting four years ago when his stand winter killed, Mr. McCarthy has had no trouble in raising alfalfa. Although he has cut down his grain ration on account of the low price of milk, he is getting 9 cans of milk daily. In the peak of the season he gets 15 cans of milk from 32 cows. He has not raised a hog in 12 years.

This trend to EIGHTS is a trend to HUDSON

The wide, new interest in 8-cylinder cars is another tribute to Hudson leadership. For it sweeps aside the barrier of high premium on eight-cylinder quality. It establishes in this field a new scale of low ownership costs—in price, in operation and in maintenance. It is ruggedly built for long-lasting reliability.

That is why you find thousands of former "Six" owners enjoying its distinction and brilliant performance with better economy than they ever knew. It is why long-time eight-cylinder buyers are turning in great number to the advantages of Hudson's exclusive new type.

It is why this trend, which you see, toward "Eights", is really the public acclaim of Hudson's Great-8.

This car stands at the pinnacle of Hudson's record of value-giving. Any comparison you choose to make must emphasize that impression. Its advantages of fine appearance, quality and distinction were never so apparent.

Beautiful, luxurious and powerful—no car is faster in get-away—none so smooth and vibrationless in every performance—none more lastingly fine in satisfactory, reliable operation.

Come see, and ride in the most modern and advanced of Eights. From whatever viewpoint you regard car ownership—whether rich appearance, distinguished performance or pride of possession—it questions the wisdom of ever paying more for any car.

ARM AND ANVIL CLUB HOLDS ITS DAILY MEETINGS

Menasha—The Arm and Anvil club, a social organization of older men, has maintained its identity for more than 15 years in this city. Its membership now numbers about 24 men. With its origin and name derivation in the old blacksmith shop that until recent years stood behind the public library, the club now carries on its activities in the basement of the library building.

Throughout the afternoons and evenings 12 or 14 men can be found in the club rooms of the basement library, playing cards, discussing politics, and reminiscing about old times. The room utilized by the organization is well suited to its purpose, amply heated by the library furnace in winter, and insulated by its position from the oppression of summer heat during the warmer months.

The closest association of the library with the club came during the life of Charles Hook, who was for years both secretary of the building and a member of the organization. Although Hook is now dead, the club room still is a popular resort.

MODERN TRAMP IS NOT "HOBO" OF OLDEN DAYS

Menasha—That the old "hobo" type of wanderer is being replaced by a higher class of transient was revealed by James Lyman, police chief, Wednesday. Visitors who have recently sought shelter in the police station maintain a better personal appearance than the "tramp" of olden times, according to Chief Lyman.

The Menasha police department follows the custom adopted by many municipalities of extending lodging to vagrants passing through the city. The plan not only affords shelter for the transients, but also protects citizens from molestation. Several are housed in the station almost every night during the winter.

OIL INTERESTS TRY TO BOYCOTT GOODS FROM THIS STATE

Move Convinces Blaine He Was Right in Exposing Oil Lobby

BY RUBY A. BLACK (Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington—With Texas already boycotting Wisconsin products because of actions of the Wisconsin real estate board in connection with sales of Texas land, oil interests in Oklahoma are now threatening a boycott of Wisconsin goods because of senator John J. Blaine's activities in exposing the oil tariff lobby.

The threat, however, merely confirmed Senator Blaine in his conviction that the oil lobby was pernicious, and he promptly rose on the floor of the senate to denounce it just before the final vote on the tariff bill was taken. Of course, the question of the oil tariff had been settled some time before, with the duties placed on petroleum and its products.

Mrs. Harry Thomas of Sheboygan, Republican national committeewoman from Wisconsin, made public the threat of boycott in Oklahoma. She sent Senator Blaine the following telegram from St. P. Mine of Oklahoma, brother of Senator W. B. Pine of Oklahoma, and Senator Blaine read it to the senate. The telegram to Mrs. Thomas said:

"There appears to be a spontaneous boycott against Wisconsin products starting in the mid-continent oil field because of Senator Blaine's attack on oil organizations. The boycott seems to be growing although apparently sponsored by no organization. Will you wire information you may have that will help to stop this boycott?"

The telegram from Pine to Mrs. Thomas was dated March 12, seven days before the last vote on the oil tariff was taken but considerably after previous votes had been taken. It was held likely here that Pine was well aware of the fact that Mrs. Thomas and Senator Blaine belong to opposite factions of the Republican party in Wisconsin, and that he supplied her with this information against Senator Blaine.

Senator Blaine after reading the telegram said "an instance of lobbying methods," said that if the brother of the senior Senator from Oklahoma "told the truth in this telegram, it is very evident that these oil interests were attempting by way of a boycott against the products of my state to influence the vote of the representatives of my state in the senate of the United States."

Such a measure, he said, would be unlawful, and a boycott on interstate commerce is in violation of law.

Asking "what information a Republican national committeewoman could have on the subject," Senator Blaine said:

"The whole purpose of the telegram was to interest a Republican national committeewoman to bring influence as Mr. Pine might imagine she might have to control the votes and vote of the members from Wisconsin on the question of oil."

Senator Blaine not only voted against the oil duties, but was a member of the lobby investigating committee which revealed the activities of the independent oil men's lobby for the duty and denounced the lobby vigorously in a speech in the senate.

Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, in answering Senator Blaine, said that he did not know of any lobby, but that he knew that Oklahoma oil men resented the methods used to defeat the oil duty.

The duty on oil first asked for $1 a barrel on crude and 50 per cent on gasoline and other refined products, would, it was estimated, cost the oil and gasoline users of Wisconsin $25,588,000 a year; the people of Texas, $39,967,000 a year, and the people of Oklahoma $18,259,000 a year.

After this duty was defeated, a duty of 50 cents a barrel on crude and 25 per cent on refined products was proposed, and after it failed, a duty of 40 cents on crude and 20 per cent on refined, and finally an effort made simply to strike it on the free list, which would have put it in a "free list class" where the duty would have been 10 per cent on crude and 20 per cent on refined. All the moves were defeated.

The oil lobby, however, gained votes for the duties despite the testimony before the lobby committee of which Senator Blaine is a member. In fact, observers here feel that the exposure of the lobby had no effect in taking votes away from the oil people, since apparently the agreements were reached before the exposure and were not changed.

66 YOUNG MEN NOW IN NATIONAL GUARD UNIT

Neenah—Co. I, Wisconsin National Guard, now has a membership of 66 young men, the latest to join the ranks being Lester Ziegler. He fills the vacancy caused by the honorable discharge of Fred A. Toth of Waubesa, whose term of three years has expired. Toth, during the three years' enlistment had a perfect attendance record. The company has lost a few men during the past few weeks on account of expired enlistments but the places are being filled immediately.

See us about that Radio Now

A number of Radio concerns have announced a price advance to take effect April 1st. Since nearly all of the seconds and bankrupt stocks have been disposed of you will find practically all of the staple Radio sets increase their prices. This becomes necessary because many of these were actually sold for less than cost of manufacturing.

We have never purchased seconds or bankrupt stocks and for that reason we never offered that class of merchandise to our customers.

THE BIG SHOT

by FRANK L. PACKARD

CONVERSATION was desultory until Lugo, the waiter, brought Martin's supper. "Well?" Enid prompted as her companion remained silent for a moment. "Shall we proceed with the payment of that bribe?" "Oh, yes. I didn't want Lugo to overhear," Martin explained. "I'll tell you now between mouthfuls. Listen! Do you know what a Big Shot is?" She nodded her head. "I think I do. It's what gangsters, or any mob for that matter, call their leader, isn't it?" "Right! You're making famous progress. You'll be able to talk the whole lingo in its revised edition before long." "You've been very helpful, you know," Enid said. "All right!" Martin continued. "There isn't a crook who doesn't yearn for the title and distinction of the Big Shot. It elevates him to the peerage of the underworld. The name is common enough but for a long time now it has been pretty definitely recognized by the police that there's just one Big Shot in New York. "He seems to be out after all the 'queer' (counterfeit money), boot-logging on a large scale, a crap circuit, and a general following of stick-up men. But the police don't know his name." Enid was surprised. "But I don't see how such a man could evade identification let alone capture. Surely he ought to be easy enough to find." Phil Martin laughed a little grimly. "Yes, you'd think so, wouldn't you? But the fact remains, he's still a good deal of a mystery, but now at least we have the beginning of the end for him." "I don't understand," she said. "What do you mean? Have the police got him?" "No," he said. "That's where my luck is in. I think I've got a lead that's sure fire!" "You?" She leaned across the table, a note of incredulity in her voice. "What have you got to do with it?" "Everything," he answered, his eyes dancing excitedly over the rim of his coffee cup. "It will be the biggest scoop any New York newspaper ever had. I'll even have his photograph before morning. We'll have the goods on him in the next few days - then we'll write 'finis' to the career of the Big Shot." "But I don't get see how you could have succeeded where the police seem to have failed so completely," she exclaimed. "More luck than anything else," he said frankly. "It was this way. About a year ago I was able to help a chap - you've seen me with him - out of a little jam he got in with the police. He has a bit of a record, of course, and several aliases, but he's generally known as Shive Frank." Martin went on. Enid Howard cupped her chin in her hand thoughtfully. "I've wondered a good deal about him, and what you two have in common. He sounds even worse than he looks." "He is," Martin admitted, "but he has been very valuable to me. About 10 days ago I met him quite by accident. I hadn't seen him since the time I'd been able to pull that friendly office nearly a year back. He was down and out. Most of his mob was in Sing Sing. As a matter of fact I know he squealed on them to save his own hide." "Well, from what little I've seen and heard of the underworld amenities I should not care to stand in his shoes. What would you prophesy?" "The inevitable. Some day he'll be bumped off, and that's what's worrying me - I'm afraid he'll pass

MOST DANGEROUS GASES FOUND IN METAL MINES

Washington (AP)—The greatest unknown dangers that threaten miners are not in coal mines, but in metal mines. They are gases, a far greater variety of gases than coal mines have, says a report of the Bureau of Mining and Metallurgical Engineering. In many instances these metal mine gases are as dangerous as the coal mine gases and in some cases more deadly. The coal miner faces principally methane gas, but some metal mines have the decidedly explosive hydrogen, carbon dioxide, which flows invisibly through them like water; sulphur, the deadly carbon monoxide and more than half a dozen varieties of fire gases. "Metal mining people," says the report, "are not by any means as familiar with these gases, their occurrence, detecting and handling as they should be."

BULLS AND BEARS SEEK CONTROL AND MART IS ERRATIC

Many Issues Sell at New Highs With Many Others Showing Losses

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL, Associated Press Financial Editor.

New York (AP)—The stock market opening speculative interests continued to struggle for control of the price movement, but the main tendency appeared to be upward. Fifty, or more, issues moved into new high ground for the year on gains ranging from 1 to 9 points, while a scattering of others sold down 1 to 5 points on profit taking and bear selling. While the volume of trading was not as large as that of yesterday, the tick-again ran far behind the market, the delay at the end of the third hour being more than 30 minutes.

Two constructive business developments helped to maintain bullish enthusiasm. They were the report that export sales of copper yesterday were the largest of any single day since last September, and the Agriculture report of a small upturn in steel production, the first since the middle of February.

Call money renewed at 3 1/2 per cent and was in fairly plentiful supply at that figure. The time money market was dull and somewhat firmer, presumably in reflection of the two increases in bankers' acceptances yesterday. Officials of the New York Federal Reserve indicated that they were committed to an easy money policy as a stimulus to business but the rise in bankers' acceptances leads to the belief that no further reduction in the rediscount rate is contemplated at this time.

Several commission houses adhere to the theory that the recent rise in the stock market is due to a change in the speculative market, and that the market is now in a position to be held by the market makers. This theory is based on the fact that the market is now in a position to be held by the market makers.

BLIZZARD STOPS LIVESTOCK TRADE

Terminal and Yard Facilities Paralyzed by Severe Storm

Chicago (AP)—The blizzard which held the Chicago territory in its grip almost paralyzed terminal and yarding facilities in the stockyards. About 500 cars of stock were billed to arrive here today, but only half of this number was reported in the yards up to the usual opening hour, and great difficulty was experienced in unloading yearling and sorting cattle in the snow blocked pens and alleys. While there was no trading early, buyers refused to bid any better than steady prices.

Hog sales were few and far between, but some of the minor operators bought 150-210 lbs. Hogs soon after the opening at $10.25-10.50 while selected light hogs were held even higher. Actual sales were on a generally steady basis. Packers claimed 3,000 were enroute to the plants by direct billing and there were 7,000 state hogs added to the fresh hogs added to the fresh run of 14,000.

The major packers were on the look out for 7,250 lambs forwarded direct to their plants but there arrival was a matter of uncertainty. Only a few cars of fat lambs were available in the sheep sheds early in the day and while stronger prices were asked for them, there was no action at the outset.

VANADIUM BUOYANT

Vanadium Steel, which has been the specialty of individual performer all week, again moved over a wide range today. The stock, which dropped from a record high of 124 1/2 to 114 in the last hour of trading yesterday, ran up to 122 today and then fell back to 116 before fresh support was forthcoming.

BOND MARKET TURNS DULL; TRADING FALLS

New York (AP)—The bond market was dull today and the volume of trading declined. Call money, plentifully offered, renewed at 3 1/2 per cent against the rate of 3 per cent renewal rate yesterday, but time funds firmed in the longer maturities.

GOVERNMENT BUYS WHEAT AND MARKET SHOWS GOOD GAINS

Report from Kansas Says Crop Will Be Smallest Since World War

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN, Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago (AP)—Bids for sales of wheat values today went hand in hand with buying for government-sponsored agencies. Dry areas southwest, especially western Kansas, reported rains badly needed. Dispatches from Sedgewick Co., Kansas, of which Wichita is the county seat, sent word that in the last 60 days moisture has been scant and that the county will have the smallest wheat crop since the World War.

Crop reports today from Kansas and Oklahoma laying stress on need of rain received particular attention for wheat traders. There were also advices that in some sections the weather was too windy for wheat. On the other hand, a forecast of snow for Kansas and Nebraska brought about considerable selling at times.

Purchases of May delivery of wheat for farm board sales were a factor giving decided help at times to bulls and acting as an offset to bearish cable news. Reports at hand indicated that France may have as much as 10,000,000 bushels of wheat for export. Meanwhile, North American export business was disappointing, overnight sales for shipment aboard consisting only of small scattered amounts.

Corn was rather firm early, with commission houses taking July and September, but the market eased later in the face of unfavorable weather.

Oats were unsettled, influenced by action of wheat.

Provisions were somewhat firmer on account of an upward trend in hog values.

HIGH POWER AND CLEAR CHANNELS BUSY COMMISSION

Federal Radio Body Faces Series of 30 Vital Problems

By ROBERT MACK, Washington (AP)—A series of thirty problems—all vital—have been placed before the federal radio commission.

Involving broadcasting, communication and television from the legal as well as the engineering side, Commissioner Harold A. LaPoint has submitted this list as a suggested schedule of commission activity immediately ahead. The commission now is applying itself to two of them—high power and cleared channels for broadcasting stations.

Mr. LaPoint urges a survey of chain stations and the networks themselves to decide once for all what type of regulation, if any, they require. There has been a constant demand from members of congress, and within the commission itself, that chain programs be regulated, but the chains have resisted such steps, and several proposed orders never have become effective.

The advisability of amending "general order 40," which, in effect, is the prevailing broadcast arrangement, also is suggested by Mr. LaPoint. That problem, however, now is before the commission, and likewise is of immense interest to listeners, should the commission decide to alter it.

A defender of high power and cleared channels, Mr. LaPoint, firmly believes, however, that reception cannot be improved unless the number of stations now operating is reduced materially. There are more than 600 stations of every type and description operating on the 30 available channels. They are crammed into this limited space under an assortment of timesharing and doubling up arrangements.

"Consider ways and means of reducing the number of broadcasting stations in this country, particularly those using more than 100 watts," says Mr. LaPoint suggests "so that more elbow room will be available, with a corresponding decrease in interference on the local and regional channels."

Mr. LaPoint urges that the commission immediately decide upon a method of evaluating broadcasting stations as to service rendered to the public. The best stations would be accorded assignments under this plan. He endorses the engineering plan now pending of switching the assignments of 14 stations operating on cleared channels with the view of eliminating cross-talk, and suggests that it be made effective forthwith.

CURB MART WORKS TO HIGHER GROUND

Movement Is Cautious and Gains Are Small, However; Traders Hesitant

New York (AP)—The curb market continued to work higher today, although price movements were largely were narrow. The sharp downturn on the big board late yesterday made trading in the market rather hesitant during the early hours of trading, but a strong rally in Electric Bond and Share helped to restore confidence as the session wore on.

A feature of the day was American Light and Traction, which shot up 15 points to a new high for the year in response to the proposed 4-for-1 stock split-up. The new stock was admitted to trading on a new issued basis, and sold relatively higher than the old shares, attracting the attention of sideways operators.

Electric Bond and Share, which has been under considerable pressure of late, rallied several points in active trading. United Light A was sold in good demand. The United Gas issues were active and firm. American and Foreign Power warrants eased.

Several of the recent favorites among the industrials rose a little further into new high ground, including Deere New Stock, American Chain, American Cyanamid B and A. Smith. The last named, a large producer of heavy pipe, has been favorably influenced by disclosures of large natural gas projects. Pilot Radio sold up fractionally to a new high for 1930 in response to announcement of the formation of a new company to take over its radio tube business. Stock of the new company would be distributed to Pilot stockholders. Canadian Pacific new stock was firm in response to stockholders approval of the split-up.

Oil shares were largely firm. Hum-Standard of Kansas sold into new high ground. Gulf, however, sold off a little.

WISCONSIN WORKS TO TEACH PEOPLE TO READ, WRITE

State Committee Organizes for Campaign Against Illiteracy

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — Wisconsin, one of the 26 states cooperating with the National Committee on Illiteracy of which Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, is a member, is making a strong effort to teach great numbers of its citizens to read and write before they are visited by the census taker. Wisconsin has appointed a State committee and has organized for the campaign against illiteracy. The National Committee has laid down the general plan for this campaign and has furnished information and guidance, even preparing a manual for teachers showing the speediest methods of overcoming this lamentably widespread ignorance. Years of experience in many states have guided the drawing up of the manual. With this supervision and aid of the committee, the governors and the educational facilities of the various states are carrying on the burden of the work.

When the present concentrated campaign preceding the taking of the census is at an end, the committee will settle down to more leisurely but just as determined work on illiterates everywhere.

There are many elements entering into the campaign. There are people living in isolated regions, such as the southern Appalachian Mountains, the foreigners in crowded cities, negroes, Indians, and chance illiterates scattered everywhere throughout the entire population of the country. Each of these elements presents its own, peculiar problem.

The committee realizes that it is confronted by a difficult task, but it believes that the educational resources of 48 great, rich and powerful states should be able to carry education to all the people, and it intends to concentrate attention upon illiterates until it is reduced to the irreducible minimum and is no longer an unhappy element in American civilization. The present drive has already grown into a larger and more determined movement than any over before working in this particular field, according to the committee.

The Julius Rosenwald fund provided $15,000 for the initial working expenses of the committee which is outside the government and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has just added an additional $10,000.

The committee, appointed last November by Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur with the approval of President Hoover, consists, in addition to President Frank of Dr. William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, vice chairman; Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas; Dr. J. A. C. Chandler; Dr. A. Caswell Ellis, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, Honorable T. H. Harris, Raymond B. Fosdick, Dr. John H. Finley, Dr. C. R. Mann, Dr. A. B. Winship, Lorado Taft, Representative Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida, John W. Abernethy, M. L. Brittain, Mrs. A. H. Reeve, Herbert S. Houston, Henry Goddard Leach, Dr. W. Weaver, secretary and treasurer; Dr. Frank Cody, R. A. Nustos, and Morris Legendre, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer. Secretary Wilbur acts as chairman.

Michigan, Missouri, and Iowa are the only other states anywhere near Wisconsin included in the 26 cooperating states, according to the Interior Department.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produce Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients with chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 50c, adv.

Five White House Widows Now

MRS. ROOSEVELT

MRS. WILSON

MRS. TAFT

MRS. CLEVELAND

Washington—The recent death of William Howard Taft adds a fifth name to the nation's list of widows of former presidents.

Mrs. Taft, now 68, is still remembered as the hostess at the silver wedding anniversary celebration at the White House in 1911, when she and Mr. Taft entertained 500 persons at a garden party. Her four years there, from 1909 to 1913, were replete with many brilliant events, as the Tafts were famous as entertainers.

In the romantic age of the late 80's Frances Folsom, 23, and President Cleveland, 49, were married at the White House.

The president's girl wife proved equal to the occasion during the four years she reigned as First Lady, from 1893 to 1897. Her daughter, now Mrs. Randolph West, was the first White House baby.

Four years after her husband's death in 1909, Mrs. Cleveland married Professor Thomas J. Preston, of Wells College in New York state. She is now 66.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson came to the White House in 1915 as the war president's second wife. During the trying years that followed, she was his close companion. She went to Europe with him to attend the peace conference at the close of the war.

Since Mr. Wilson's death in 1924, she has continued to maintain the famous S street home in Washington, occasionally going to Geneva to watch operations of the League of Nations. She returned recently from a trip to the orient. She is now 57.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Sr., retired to Oyster Bay, N. Y., after the death of her husband in 1919. At 68, she lives quietly, travels much, avoids publicity.

The fifth widow is Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, now 71. She married Mr. Harrison after he retired from presidency. Nevertheless, she had her share of White House life, as she was a niece of the first Mrs. Harrison.

Mrs. Roosevelt is the only one of the widows who receives the government pension of $5000 a year. Mrs. Wilson declined it; Mrs. Cleveland's second marriage ended her pension. Mrs. Harrison was not entitled to one, and Mrs. Taft's pension has not yet been considered.

HUMBLE COMPANY ONE OF STRONGEST IN OIL BUSINESS

Firm Is Engaged in Practically Every Branch in Field

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
A complete unit in the industry engaged in production, refining, transportation and marketing of petroleum and its products, Humble Oil and Refining is one of the strongest oil organizations. It is controlled by Standard Oil of New Jersey through ownership of the capital stock to an amount estimated unofficially at 65 per cent. Capitalization consists of funded indebtedness of a little less than $5,000,000 and stock of $25 par value outstanding to the amount of 2,974,646 shares, carried in the balance sheet at $74,366,125. There are two bond issues, one with a 5 1/2 per cent coupon maturing in 1922 and one with a five per cent coupon maturing in 1937, both of them direct obligations, but not secured by mortgages, and both of them selling to yield well under five per cent, which is a fair measure of their high investment rating. The 5 1/2 per cent issue is quoted at approximately its call price and the five per cent issue sells above par, neither of them having any speculative attraction. The stock on the other hand has both investment and speculative merit. The present dividend rate is only $2 annually, so that the yield is much below that obtainable on the bonds. The explanation is found in the earnings. For the calendar year 1929, net available for the stock was equivalent to $10.92 a share against $6.50 a share in the preceding twelve months, and this result was accomplished in a year of exceptional difficulties in the oil trade. Carrying so large an amount of surplus makes it reasonable to expect that stockholders will eventually receive some additional disbursement or that there will be some capital readjustment from which they will benefit.
